"That woman would have hypnotized me had I allowed her to do so. After several minutes she gave up and I ran out."

REV. DILLON BRONSON FLED WORLD'S END SPELL

Noted Brookline Pastor Has Startling Experience in Duxbury Colony That Is Awaiting the Last Trump To-day—Declares Women Hypnotize Their Followers.

ASHOOD, West Duxbury, Sept. 24.—The Rev. Dr. Dillon Bronson, one of the leading clergymen of Brookline, had to run out of a meeting of the members of the Latter Reign of the Apostolic Church to-day to prevent himself from falling under the hypnotic influence of one of the women exhorters.

I sathe side another man in the meeting," said Dr. Bronson. "A large woman rose, raised her hand above her head and marched down the aisle. As she passed rows of people they shaded in an intense underbreath for silence. All over the room hands were raised. Some made the sounds of birds, one woman made a sound that sounded like the cackle of a hen.

Woman Walks in Trance.

"The big woman approached me. The man next to me said: 'Look out, she may be coming to you,' and I replied: 'I am not afeeld.' The woman walked up to me. Her eyes seemed to be closed. She reached out her hand and tapped me on the breast and murmured something. I could not understand what she said. It had the sound of a bird chirping.

"I tell you now that that woman would have hypnotized me had I allowed her to do so. I kept my eyes wide open and my thinking powers acute. After several minutes she gave up and I ran out."

Pressed in their belief that the world will end at sundown to-night, the 200 or more men, women and children of the strange sect will, in one of the buildings of the religious order, carrying on their wierd ceremony.

Dr. Bronson said that a sixteen year-old girl danced and leaped in an ecstacy of fervor last night for six hours until she fell exhausted. Other women have thrown themselves into the passion of the seen also until they have been carried unconscious. Dr. Bronson declares, who have strong hypnotic powers, sway the members at will.

At daybreak a. m. to-day the sign in the sky that the end of the world was near was seen. It was a red glow. The worshippers were aroused to look at it. From a deep red it changed to yellow.

"It is the light of Bethlehem," some of them cried as they marched about with the tables and chairs of the building, in a new attitude of worship.

Dr. Bronson is one of the wealthiest clergymen of New England. He is at present home at Scituate. He came here home to-day in his auto after hearing of the remarkable services. He said that he went into the service to see something of their beliefs and ceremonies.

Flap Hands Like Wings.

"The room," said Dr. Bronson, "was small. There were more than 150 packed into it. There were men, women and children. They were simply jammed together. The blinds were down and there was a piss light. There was no air."

The clergyman then told of his personal experiences with the principal woman leader which caused him to flee from the room.

"While the ceremony was going on," said Dr. Bronson, "many of the women in the room were standing with their arms raised over their heads. They kept their hands and arms moving like the wings of birds. Some of them sang weird tunes, others muttered unintelligible sounds.

The air was so close that I could stand it no longer. I made for the door and reached the air.

"In the excitement many of the women collapse. I was told of a number of cases of this kind. One was of a sixteen-year-old girl who had jumped and leaped about for six hours last night until she fell as one dead. But she was back again to-day.

Speaks Strange Tongue.

"One of the women speaks in a peculiar tongue—what is known as a religious tongue. There is only one of the congregation who can understand what she says. This woman translates it. What she says is:

"'The time has arrived. The Lord is here. Are you ready?'

"There are three women leaders with the wonderful hypnotic power who sway the others at will. They are a wonderful people, God loving and God fearing, I believe.

Some schedule had been read wrong or eternity was behind its running time.

"The Lord will surely come to-day," said one devout woman of Providence, one of the leading members of the Latter Reign of the Apostolic Church, or the Prune Improvelists. "I know He will. I have given up everything. I sold my property in Providence for a small sum, for what is money to me?

"I have no further use for property. To-day is my last on earth and I shall surely see Him. I have no money left and am in His hands. The Lord will come to-day. I see it in the sunrise."

What's 1,000 Years, Anyway?

Others who predicted that the end would come at 10 o'clock easily explained this by saying: "That does not mean with the Lord. One day is with Him as 1,000 years and 1,000 years as one day. The world will end to-day."

Others said the world will end to-morrow, others next week, others next month, and still others, like Rev. C. F. Osgood, pastor of the Free Christian Society, said that the Lord would come some time this year.

Meantime money was being showered

SOUL MATE JUST "FAMILY FRIEND," SAYS DR. CHASE

Declaring that he would give Hartley Dennett, the man in love with his wife, a home that his relationship with Mrs. Chase was that of a "family friend," and that their kisses were pure and only sealed a fraternal bond, Dr. H. Lincoln Chase threw additional light to-day on the amazing marital mixup in these two prominent families.

The position of Dr. Chase in encouraging the love between Dennett and his wife is one of the most remarkable phases of the sensational case.

Dr. Chase Defines Kisses.

When seen at his home to-day Dr. Chase discussed with great detail the relationship between Dennett and his wife, defined pure and impure kisses, asserted that he would tolerate no violation of the moral law under his roof and reiterated that he proposed to stand by the architect and Mrs. Chase. Here are some of the things Dr. Chase said with great emphasis:

"My views of the sex relationship are just the same as those held by Christian ministers.

"The relationship between Mr. Dennett and my wife is that of a family friend.

"There are pure and impure kisses. Those who have passed between Dennett and my wife mean nothing but fraternal relationship.

"I gladly welcome my friend Dennett to my home, where he will remain for the present."

When a BOSTON AMERICAN reporter called the Chase home early to-day, Dr. and Mrs. Chase and Mr. Dennett were at breakfast. Dr. Chase and Mr. Dennett met the reporter. Mrs. Chase remained within doors, but made this statement through her husband:

"I am not hiding, as there is nothing for me to hide."

Dennett Thanks Chases.

"I expressed myself thoroughly in court," said Dennett. "There is nothing I could add that would make matters any clearer. I am very grateful to Dr. and Mrs. Chase for their kindness to me. I think Dr. Chase's attitude disposes of any charge of wrong-doing."

Then Dr. Chase talked freely with the reporter.

"I know that this case has brought us much unpleasant notoriety and that incorrect interpretations have been made, but all of this to my mind is no reason why we should alter our course of life—change it because of the criticism of persons who are ignorant of the facts.

Dr. Chase was asked whether the fact that he was a physician had led him to take a light view of the relationship between the two sexes.

"Not at all," he replied fervently. "My views are the same as those of the Christian clergy. I would not tolerate any

SCHOOL CHUM KNEW RUSSELL BY OLD CIPHER

A school boy chum of Daniel Blake Russell, who is seeking to identify himself as the son of Daniel Russell of Melrose, that he may secure half a million dollar estate, testified to-day that while he was at one time sceptical as to the petitioner's identity, he became convinced when Russell showe him that he was familiar with an old school boy cipher which the two used when in school together.

The witness was Fred D. Grundy, a Haverhill real estate dealer, formerly of Melrose. Grundy testified after Mrs. Sarah Crafts, a Melrose woman, had identified the petitioner as the person she had known as childhood as Danny Russell, son of Daniel Russell.

Mrs. Crafts is a relative of the wife of Daniel Russell. She was the fifth childhood friend to identify the man as Daniel Blake Russell.

Before Grundy took the witness stand Ros. Leslie A. Simpson, attorney for the petitioner, formally demanded that William C. Russell, respondent in the case, and the man who is now holding the estate left by Daniel Russell, appear in court. Attorney Proctor, for William C. Russell, replied: "you can search me, I don't know where he is."

Talkfd of Old Days.

Under direct examination Grundy said that he was the chum of Daniel Blake Russell up to the time he was fourteen years of age. The petitioner was then asked to stand up and the witness identified him.

He was asked if he recognized Russell when the latter first called on him. "No, I did not," replied the witness. "It was not until I talked with him and he remembered many things about our school days that I became convinced."

"Tell us what some of those things were," asked Attorney Proctor.

"Well," said the witness, "I asked him in particular if he remembere going shooting for partridges at my grandmother's. He said he did. He went on and told me about the pills he used. I was convinced then because that was something that only he and I knew about and no one could have told him."

"Was that at that convinced you?"

"No. I asked him if he remembered what we did in school and he said he did. He said we used to pass notes to each other. He then sat down and wrote

RED SOX LOAF BUT PLAY TWO TO-MORROW

"No game to-day, double-header with St. Louis at 1:30 to-morrow," was the announcement made at 1 o'clock to-day by Treasurer McBreen of the Boston Americans. Unsatisfactory weather conditions led to the postponement.

The St. Louis Browns arrived here from Philadelphia to-day with a bunch of young players they are trying out. They can afford to put as many young players in against the Red Sox as they wish without incurring the displeasure of any other club owner, because the Speed Boys are out of the pennant race.

Among the players here with the Browns is Hobe Ferris, the old Boston second baseman. Hobe played third last season, and most of this for the Browns, but is now back on the second sack, while Bobby Wallace is holding down third corner. Ferris told a BOSTON AMERICAN reporter that Big Bill Dinneen, the former Boston pitcher, is making good as an umpire.

"Bill was an awful crab when he was pitching," declared Hobe, "and I have heard him beef long and hard at the umpire when the ball was nowhere near the plate. But it is different with him now. He sees things from another angle.

"I'm going out after an umpire's job when I get through playing ball," added Hobe. "It's a cinch. No quick talk from the players."

President R. L. Hedges of the St. Louis club is here with the team to size up the youngsters. He called at President Taylor's office to-day, but so far as could be learned there was no talk of swaps.

MRS. VANDERBILT RETURNS HOME

NEW YORK, Sept. 24.—Mrs. William K. Vanderbilt, Jr., whose separation from her husband by agreement has been generally regarded as certain, arrived from Europe with two of her three children on the Cunard liner Lusitania to-day. When asked concerning the trouble between her and her husband she said: "At the present time I prefer not to discuss my private affairs."

Mrs. Vanderbilt was seen often in the company of Dr. J. A. Blake, a New York physician, on the way over, and he helped her with the customs inspectors. Dr. Blake is a friend of Clarence Mackay, who was also on board.

NATIONAL LEAGUE GROUNDS, Chicago, Sept. 24.—The Boston Doves and the Cubs clashed to-day in the first game of a series of three. The weather was clear, but cool, and the crowd of moderate size, owing to the lateness of the season, the hour for the game was advanced to 2 o'clock.

Chicago fans have seen the handwriting on the wall, and now concede that the Cubs have no chance of beating the Pirates out. For this reason, Manager Chance is trying out several recruits.

The Boston team was in good shape after a good night's rest on the way from Pittsburg. Manager Chance of the Cubs was out of the game with a smashed thumb.

DORMAN MAY RUN AS INDEPENDENT

LYNN, Sept. 24.—Representative William E. Dorman, who failed to obtain a renomination in the Thirteenth District on Tuesday, may run as an independent. John H. Coggeswell was nominated over Dorman in the Republican caucuses on Tuesday after one of the most bitter political fights ever known in Lynn. Dorman lost by less than 200 votes. Dorman's friends believed he would have been appointed House chairman of the Committee on Judiciary if he had won.

FRISCO CHINAMAN BUILDS AIRSHIP

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 24.—Pung Joe Goey, a Chinese working in a hidden retreat on the Piedmont Hills, three miles from Oakland, has constructed an aeroplane in which he has made two successful flights over a distance of several miles. Goey will go to China within the next few weeks and take his invention.

Piper Heidsieck costs a little more than ordinary tobacco because it is matured of better material.

"I'M INNOCENT," SWEARS PLOUFFE; SWEETHEART PLANS TO FREE HIM

CLINTON, Sept. 24.—"Before God I swear I am entirely innocent of this crime with which I have been charged. Knowing my innocence, I have no fear of the outcome."

Raising his right hand in dramatic intensity, Raymond Plouffe, charged with George Lapointe with the murder of Dr. Henry N. Stone, the rich Newburyport dentist, to-day swore in the presence of his sweetheart, Miss Annie Churchill, that he was guiltless of the crime that the officers are trying to fix on him. The interview between Plouffe and the faithful girl took place in the Clinton lockup.

"I believe you, Ray," said Miss Churchill, "and I will get you out as soon as you are free."

Miss Churchill has made a careful examination of Plouffe's milk route books, and she declares that they show that he should have saved over $200 since March, and that this accounts for the $223 found in his pocket when he was arrested. She says this money was not that of Dr. Stone, as the authorities charge.

New Witness Found.

Following the inquest into the crime, which was committed at 10:30 o'clock, Plouffe and Lapointe were arraigned for a preliminary hearing on the charge of murder, before Judge Jonathan Smith. The first witness called was Mrs. Clara Davis, a neighbor of Dr. Stone, whom he visited on Sunday, September 12," testified Mrs. Davis. "He left the next evening about 8:30 o'clock for the Ayer station, intending to catch the 9:07 o'clock train for Boston. He was going to remain all night in Boston and go to Newburyport the next day.

"He carried with him a Boston's straw board he containing some windfall apples. Raymond Plouffe was to drive my brother to the station. The last I saw of my brother was when he left the gate in the buggy."

On cross-examination, Mrs. Davis admitted that she had not really seen her brother get into the buggy and start off with Plouffe, but Plouffe admits he drove the doctor on his last ride.

One of the important new witnesses found by the officers is Thomas H. Griffin, who, they say, will testify that he saw Lapointe walking toward the scene of the crime about 9 o'clock on the night it happened.

BOOM GEN. GRANT FOR PRESIDENCY

DETROIT, Sept. 23.—Alfred Lowther, chairman of the Prohibition party, is booming Brigadier-General Frederick D. Grant, son of former President U. S. Grant, as the Prohibition candidate for President in 1912. The Grant boom is taken seriously in Michigan, and before the week ends it will be started in earnest unless steps are taken to prevent such action. General Grant will head the big temperance parade in Chicago to-morrow.

CELEBRATE FORTY YEARS' PROHIBITION

CHICAGO, Sept. 24.—The fortieth anniversary of the birth of the National Prohibition party was celebrated in Chicago to-day by one thousand delegates, men and women prominent in W. C. T. U. work, representing twenty States of the Union.

BIGGEST PEACH YET SENT TO PRESIDENT

HILTON, N. J., Sept. 24.—Henry Jordan, the most famous grower of strawberries in the most famous strawberry locality of the State, has begun his record for strawberries in the field of raising peaches. To-day he sent to President Taft two specimens of the Iron Mountain variety, which, when placed side by side, measured eight inches across. They were four inches in height.

FLEE HOMES TO ESCAPE QUAKES

TRIESTE, Sept. 24.—A succession of earthquake shocks has driven the people of Istria from their homes in panic. No lives were lost nor was the damage to property heavy, but the continued shocks at night spread terror.

3 ELEPHANTS AND RHINO FOR ROOSEVELTS

NAIROBI, Africa, Sept. 24.—Two more elephants have been bagged by Ex-President Roosevelt in the Mueru district. Mr. Roosevelt will soon leave there for the Guasso Nyiro river, 100 miles south of Nairobi, where he will make camp. Mr. Roosevelt is contemplating a move to Lake Nannington in Naivasha, where the hunting is reported to be remarkably good.

CORBIN'S BODY BURIED.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 24.—The body of Lieutenant General Henry C. Corbin, which has reposed in a vault in the Arlington National cemetery since Sept. 10, was buried to-day. Brief services were conducted at the grave by Chaplain W. W. Bradner, 15th cavalry. The ceremony was private.

GIANT BRITISH WARSHIP HERE FOR BIG FETE

NEW YORK, Sept. 24.—The giant British battleship Indefatigable, with Admiral Sir Edmund Poe on board, arrived here to-day for participation in the Hudson-Fulton celebration which starts to-morrow. Heading her convoyers, the English cruisers Drake, Edinburgh and Argyll, the majestic dreadnought swept by quarantine at 11:10 o'clock, while the United States supply ship Culgoa, anchored off Tompkinsville, thundered a salute which jarred the nearby Staten Island towns.

The North River is filled to-day with the warships of various nations.

The three English cruisers had arrived here last night and their sailors, in Hudson River until their mistress, mighty Indefatigable, put in from open Shortly before the German cruisers Victoria Louise, Bertha and Brandenburg passed quarantine, anchoring in Cheered by Sweetheart.

The Government was represented at the Inquest by Assistant District Attorney James A. Stiles of Worcester. The witnesses who were examined in the Judge Mel ...ston rooms were:

State Officers Foley W. Murray, Robert E. Mott and Arthur E. Keating; Deputy Sheriff A. A. Fitchburg of Ayer, Selectman Warren Nichols, Ranger Hi Morse, Physicians Medical Examiner George L. Tuttle and Assistant Medical Examiner James F. Goodwin.

Medical Examiner Tuttle, after telling of fourteen wounds found on the body of Stone and two fractures of the skull, as well as describing the wounds, said:

"The facts as disclosed are considered with the theory that Stone was struck by a man riding on his right side in the buggy, the bullet passing through the right side of the coat, and the shot from the gun that the doctor turned toward his assailant and received a second bullet in the left chest."

Neither of these wounds would incapacitate the doctor from action for two or three minutes. It is considered to believe that he leaped from the buggy, struggled with his murderer and was beaten to death with stones.

Two shawls, blood stained, were handed to the doctor and he said the skirt might have been caused by these stones.

Before the inquest began Miss Churchill had come here today to devote all of her energies to saving her betrothed. While Lapointe, Plouffe was brought here from the Fitchburg jail early today.

When Plouffe arrived the plucky girl was here to welcome and to nerve him for the day's ordeal. She shook hands with Chief of Police Sanderson and asked to see Plouffe, and the chief of the was a relative of the prisoner she said.

"No, just a relative, but nearer and dearer to him."

The chief then led the girl to the cell room where her sweetheart was confined, but the sight of the iron bars caused her to faint. Sanderson caught her as she was about to open the heavy door, the girl murmured:

"No, no, not in there. I can't go in there."

Chief Sanderson then took her to his office and returning to the cell room led Raymond Plouffe unhandcuffed to the office. When the lovers saw each other they were clasped in each other's arms in a fervent and kissing each other fondly.

Explains the Money.

"Ray, dear," said the girl, "I don't believe it; I can't believe it and I'll stay right here to help you all I can. I'll stand by you."

For over an hour the people talked about the case and Miss Churchill told Plouffe her plans for the day in his defense. Then the man was led back to his cell and the girl went into long and earnest consultation with Attorneys John H. O'Brien and George F. O'Toole of Chicago, who have been retained by Plouffe.

With the girl, who is really managing the defense of her affianced husband, the two lawyers went all over the evidence and Plouffe's milk route books. Miss Churchill said:

"I loaned Ray $200 last March in New Jersey. He wanted to buy a milk route of Mrs. Davis and had only $75. He had $125 and I loaned him the $200 to go in the Davis farm in Harvard. He paid $200 for the milk route. This left him $25.

"Ray said no board at the Davis farm. He said he could not live on that for nine cents a day, so he bought his own. I have gone over all of Ray's accounts and we can satisfy the Judge to all of this. He made a profit of 3 cents a quart on this milk he sold. So even in the darkest of times, he had a net earning of over $3 a day.

"Now figure this out for yourself and you'll see that from March last Ray should have $200 or more in his possession. He carried this money and he earned it honestly. It was not for Stone's money, but it was Ray's own. I have gone over all of Ray's accounts and we can satisfy the Judge to all of this. He made a profit of 3 cents a quart on this milk he sold. So even in the darkest of times, he had a net earning of over $3 a day.

Says He Earned All.

"The State police build considerable of their claims against Ray because of this large amount of money which was found in his possession, but Ray says he was accustomed to carry large sums of money in his pocket, and because of this thought that the murder of Dr. Stone had robbery for motive.

"But we will shatter that so far as implicating Ray is concerned, by absolutely proving that Ray had earned every cent of money that was found in his possession by him."

TO-DAY'S CABLE NEWS

Up to Midnight, London Time

Use Stomach Pump to Tame Suffragettes.

LONDON—Two of the Suffragettes imprisoned at Birmingham tried the tactics successfully adopted by their London colleagues to get released. They started in to starve themselves. The prison doctor, however, with the sanction of the Home Office, fed them with a stomach pump. After this experience the prisoners promised to take their food in the usual way.

Predicts a Flying Bicycle.

PARIS—Jules Bois, a distinguished archaeologist has attempted to forecast the changes likely to take place in Europe in 100 years' time. M. Bois predicts that all the great cities will be particularly unhabited except by visitors and for business purposes during the daytime. All classes will live in the country or garden cities at considerable distances from the towns, to which access will be cheap and extremely rapid. The motor car will have gone out of fashion, but the bicycle, in a new form, will be once more in favor, for a sort of flying bicycle will be invented which will enable the rider to soar in safety.

Aluminum Money for France.

PARIS—A memorandum from the treasury reports further information concerning the aluminum sou, two-sou and five-sou pieces which will go into circulation early in 1910. The one-cent coins will be the size of a five-cent piece, the two-cents of that of a quarter, and the five-cent pieces midway between a quarter and a half of a dollar. An innovation will be the stamping on the obverse of a head of the republic and of the figure indicating the value on the reverse in a hollow centre of the coin, though in relief as usual. This will be the first use of aluminum money in Europe.

Why Cholera Is Fatal.

MUNICH—Professor Emerich claims that he has confirmed by chemical and spectroscopic analysis the accuracy of his theory that the fatal agent in Asiatic cholera is free nitrous acid, the formation of which is rendered possible by the action of inositl in transforming the nitrates of food into nitrites. This knowledge, he says, makes safe propiylaxis possible. Anybody can now protect himself from fatal consequences, even when actually in the infected district. It is only necessary to avoid eating nitrogenous vegetables and cured meats containing saltpetre and drinking nitrogenous water.

Airships as War Engines.

BERLIN—The Militaer Wochenblatt, the organ of the Prussian army, has published a sympathetic review of the successful flights made here by Orville Wright and the wonderful technical achievement displayed by his aeroplane. "It is as yet impossible to form an opinion regarding the usefulness of this machine in war," the Wochenblatt says, "but it is well to remember that so great a mind as Napoleon regarded Fulton's steamer useless for war; furthermore, when railroads were first developed it was impossible to foretell their importance for military uses."

Another Barcelona Terror.

LONDON—Advices from Saragossa, dated September 19, report very serious times. Barcelona is passing through another reign of terror. The situation throughout Spain is disquieting. Not a day passes in Barcelona without a bomb exploding in the streets, but the government suppresses news of these occurrences. Warnings are received of the hour and the place where explosions will occur, and they are almost always fulfilled.

JEWS BEGIN 24-HOUR FAST AT SUNDOWN

At sundown to-day over 100,000 Jews in Greater Boston, as well as their millions of brethren all over the world, begin the observance of the holiest of their holidays, Yom Kippur, or the Day of Atonement.

For twenty-four hours every Jew who still retains the religion of his fathers or remains at all in sympathy with the people of his race, will abstain from all food and drink and spend the day in prayer. Thousands who throughout the year remain away from the synagogues and violate the laws laid down by the guidance of their people turn again to the services on this day. Even the saloons will be closed and the just and unjust deeds of the year are measured up for every man.

Services Begin Tonight.

Prayer begins to-night at all the synagogues, reformed or orthodox, in the orthodox houses the feast before going to the synagogue is impressive. After the last meal the mother lights the candles, one for each member of the family. And weeping, she says prayers over them while the family with bowed heads stand around her. Then all go to the synagogue, silently praying for forgiveness, for all sins and especially for all injuries done to others. If on the way to services they meet one whom they have wronged, they beg for forgiveness; if one by whom they have been wronged there begins, for it is so ordered. Our Gentile thoughout the year seek each other out and become friends.

On the Day of Atonement no food is tasted at all.

None are exempt from the biblical injunction to "fast and pray from eve to eve," except the sick, the aged, women of tender age, nursing mothers and those near death.

"Meet in Jerusalem."

To-night will be sung the "Kol Nidra" service, the most impressive in the Hebrew synagogue ritual. It will last for about three hours, after which the less orthodox will go home and rest for the long day of prayer and fasting. The ultra orthodox will stay at the synagogue and pray and recite psalms all night.

Tomorrow night at the close of the services, when the shofar is blown for the last time and the people have cried in unison, "May we next year meet in Jerusalem, in the Holy Land," all will repair to their homes and enjoy a feast for first the penitential season, which began ten days ago, is over and the two weeks of rejoicing are near, for soon comes Succoth, the feast of Tabernacles, and finally the merriest feast of the Jewish year, Simchath Torah, the rejoicing in the law.

RED GLOW IN SKIES HAILED AS SIGN OF END OF THE WORLD

into the collection baskets which are still being systematically circulated among the brethren in the little chapel where all morning long informal services were being held.

Why this there is being collected in tins of the small importance as a purchasing medium in eternity the leaders of the movement refused to explain. They declare such questions border on irreverence.

Search Skies for Signs.

Singing, praying, lifting up their arms and shouting toward the skies, which are lowering darkly, two hundred of the strongband are momentarily awaiting the coming of the Lord and the satisfying up of the universe.

The skies are searched for signs, which to-day are abundant. All morning long groups of worshippers have been filing in and out of the little chapel, praying, singing, shouting and scanning the heavens intently against the coming of the Lord.

While the Latter Rain members were awaiting the ending of time and the dawn of eternity, Rev. Robert B. Swan of the Advent Church of Providence lamented fifteen men, women and children in Ashdod broke the Little Jordan of the cult.

During the morning men, women and children talked about singing, praying and actually satisfying their temporal wants of hunger by getting one last good square meal before it was too late.

Rest Up for the End.

Services were held last night in the chapel from 9 o'clock until 1 this morning. The exercises were conducted by Revs. Robert B. Swan of Providence, Frank N. Day of Providence, Oscar Law of Pawtucket and J. C. Osgood of Ashod.

When the last hymn had been sung and the benediction pronounced the congregation dispersed to their couches to get some sleep before the end of the world would come. They sang shouted and prayed about their seat to their beds.

Two telegrams were sent away to-day to members of the church in distant friends. One to Carl Moore of No. 379 Lafayette street, Salem, read:

"Sweetheart—These are wonderful meetings. The Lord is surely coming. (Signed) MOTHER."

Carl replied:

"No change. I feel the same."

The other telegram was sent to Mrs. B. A. Smith, Carlisle, Me. It said:

"Sweetheart—Are you ready, for He is surely coming. (Signed) NELLIE."

Rev. J. C. Osgood said: "We represent holy religion and I tell you that we are in the closing of the Gospel age. Most people of today know little or nothing about religion. Some people even laugh at it. There are radicals among us here. The rest are conservatives. These radicals believe that the Lord will come to-day. I believe that something is going to happen.

Come From Far-Off Cities.

"Whether the Lord comes to-day or not I can't tell, but I believe that we will see him sometime this year. This is the tenth day of Tizri and that is the day on which the Lord will visit us. It is ominous and I am expectant. The coming Kingdom will be the Lord's Kingdom and any other will crumble away. Whether we go to Paradise or not rests with Him."

Those here to-day are from all over the country, some coming even from far distant westerly towns and cities. Every section of New England is represented. Springfield, Mass., and Waterville, Me., especially so.

IT ISN'T HOT; WEATHER JUST A 'HANGOVER'

General Humidity was rested by an east wind at noon to-day and Boston sat up and took notice, for it was the first time in four days that the humidity wandered away from the uncomfortable.

Early to-day the warm spell which has prevailed this week started out as if ready for another siege. The temperature was 72 and the humidity 94. The black clouds and the generally threatening conditions made people look with a half credulous ear on the prediction of the Duxbury prophets that the world was coming to an end.

Professor Smith, who is something of a prophet himself, scoffed at this and said the warmth was only a weather hang over.

Enjoyed in the cool Summer resort to-day. The lowest temperature is 58. It's colder in Bismarck, N. D., with 50, but that is a perfect day for Key West with the national record with 80, while Boston and Providence are tied at 76. New England with 72 apiece.

To-day's forecaster is fair and cooler to-night and Saturday; light westerly winds.

And this is the forecaster's explanation: "The reason for the warm weather we have been having the past few days is due to a large area of unsettled weather from the West and Southwest, which is passing slowly toward the East. It was due to pass this region a while ago, but the storms have caused it to hang over a while."

BREAKS 50-DAY FAST WITH MILK

CLEVELAND, Sept. 24—William H. Maire, a Cleveland man now in Battle Creek, Mich., has just completed a fast of fifty and one-half days, according to information received in his relatives here. Maire lost forty pounds during that period. He drank filtered water. Upon breaking his fast, Maire drank a teaspoonful of milk. His second and third meals consisted of two and three teaspoonfuls of milk respectively.

WANT BATCHELDER AS COMMITTEEMAN

HAVERHILL, Sept. 24—Delegates to the Fourth Essex Senatorial convention pledged to Representative Arthur L. Nason for Senator voted to-day to support ex-Representative J. Franklin Batchelder of this city for State committeeman from this district. The State committee seat is now held by J. Otis Wardwell, lobbyist, friend of Senator Lodge, and leader of the anti-Nason forces.

ALARM CLOCK 50c

Good Things to Eat.

In these hot days the idea of a cool, ripe watermelon is tempting. There are those who say that a watermelon is at its best in a salad. The salad platter is covered with tender, crisp lettuce leaves, over which a thin layer of watercress and another of nuts is spread. The best part of a ripe watermelon is then cut into inch cubes or a little smaller. A dressing is made by beating the yolks of two eggs until light, add two tablespoonfuls of lemon juice, a teaspoonful of salt, and a dash of pepper. Cook until thick in a double boiler and set aside to cool. Just before serving, a cup of whipped cream is added with a tablespoonful of chopped olives.

Here is a Dutch-Italian dish which those who have tried it say is excellent. Rix a Hollandaise it is called. The foundation is boiled rice, to which, as it lies in the hot saucepan, is added a large lump of butter. This is thoroughly stirred in with a seasoning of pepper and salt, and enough tomato pulp added to moisten the mixture well. It is finished with grated Parmesan, Gruyers or other mild, dry cheese. The dish must be served very hot as soon as the cheese has dissolved, and long tendrils of the melted cheese will follow the grains of rice as the mixture is eaten.

Italian rice forms part of a French dish of chicken, and is a good way of serving the last of a cold turkey. The meat is removed from the bones, and cut in shreds and the scraps as good a broth as possible is made. A baking dish is lined with the rice, and in a hollow in the centre is placed the chicken meat which has been heated in the broth which has been seasoned and slightly thickened to make a good sauce. Only enough of the sauce to moisten the chicken is used and the rest is served in a sauce-boat. Grated cheese is also served separately.

Fried cucumbers make a good dish for luncheon or dinner. They should be peeled, cut either long or round thick slices, dipped into beaten egg which has been seasoned with salt and pepper, rolled in bread crumbs, and fried a delicate brown.

A simple Moravian recipe for pepper nuts comes from Bethlehem, Pa. A gill of water is added to a pound of granulated sugar. This is allowed to simmer slowly for a half, and when it begins to strin is poured into a bowl. When the stirring to cool, it is beaten with the eggbeater or spoon until it is thick and creamy. Three drops of oil of peppermint are then carefully beaten in, and one pound of flour is thoroughly worked in, or, in the absence of that, a smooth brown paper will do as well. It must be noticed that the oil of peppermint and not the essence should be used.

CHASE TELLS WHAT A 'PURE SOUL KISS' IS

violation of the moral law under my roof. I have the same views on the relationship between a man and woman as did Jesus and Emerson. I still retain my friendship for Dennett and my love for my wife, because I know that their views on personal chastity are exactly the same as mine.

"Family Friend—Not Soul Mate."

"There is no scientific reason for any one other belief. My wife is my wife, and she would have nothing wrong to do with another man.

"Dennett's relationship with my wife is simply that of a family friend. The phrases 'soul mate' and 'mental affinity' have been used in connection with this case. They have been criticised as concealing something wrong.

"Because of that fact and wanting the public to get my idea in a clear way, I prefer the use of the phrase of 'family friend.' I've known Dennett five years. He is a high-minded, splendid man. Mary Ware Dennett, when she brought her suit against her husband in the East Cambridge court, knew that there was nothing criminal nor wrong in the relationship between her husband and my wife. Base insinuations that were made in court were unjust and unfair.

"Now in regard to kissing. Considerable capital has been made from my admission that I had seen Mr. Dennett kissing my wife in public. There is such a thing as a pure and an impure kiss. A kiss is wrong when it contains improper passion.

There Are Kisses and Kisses.

"But there is another kind of kiss—one that means nothing but fraternal relationship. That is the kiss a brother gives a sister after a long absence from each other.

"Such kisses have passed between Dennett and my wife in my presence and I have thought nothing of it. If they had kissed secretly behind my back, or in private, it would have been another matter. I would not have tolerated that sort of thing. But there has never been anything of that sort.

"Therefore, appreciating that my friend Dennett has met with misfortune through his friendship for my wife and myself, I gladly welcome him to my house and he may make his home there so long as he likes."

From Dennett's wife comes no blame for him. From Dennett's brother's wife, who is conversant with the entire situation, emanate only kindly words for him. It is the wife of Dr. Chase—the woman who has mysteriously charmed another man and at the same time retained her own husband's regard—against whom criticism is directed.

Since her appearance on the witness stand in East Cambridge, when she asked for and obtained the custody of their two children and when she blamed Mrs. Chase for coming between her and her husband, Mrs. Hartley Dennett has refused to talk of the trouble. Through her sister at her home on Gates street, Framingham Centre, she said:

"I have nothing whatever to say to the public except that this is my own personal affair and I will not talk about it now will I authorize anything to be said in my name."

Mrs. Vaughn Bennett, the wife of Hartley Dennett's only brother, was not so reticent. This is what she had to say:

"We have all been very unhappy over this affair, for Hartley Dennett is my husband's only brother and they think everything of one another. We did not know anything about it, till it became public. That was last Winter, I think.

"Mr. Dennett declares he loves his wife and children as much as he ever has and he has always been a fine, loyal husband and father. Why he is acting in this way we cannot understand. My husband has been very unhappy about it for a good while. I think no one knows but himself and he does not seem to be able to explain it. His sorrow is a great trial to her and she probably would not have done anything about it if Hartley had let the children alone. But he wanted to have control of them and take them with him to Mrs. Chase's and everywhere, and of course no mother could have that under such circumstances.

"I did not know how the matter came out at court, but the judge seems to have understood how unusual and delicate the situation is and I am glad he made such a just decision. Of course Mary Dennett should have control of the children.

"One can't help feeling that the only one to blame in this affair is Mrs. Chase. She seems to be under the influence of Mrs. Chase, and we all think he would be all right if it were not for her."

They do seem to be fond of one another in an almost ideal way. There is not the least suspicion of anything gross about it. There never has been anything to my knowledge that was not all right from a moral standpoint. It seems to be a spiritual affair, as he says, and the fact that Dr. Chase can reconcile it honors and the thought that there is no wrong or anything nevertheless about it.

"I am glad the newspapers are dealing with it so decently. They seem to understand that it is a most unusual case and that all elements of the tawdry and gross are lacking. I am very glad they are treating it in such a dignified way.

"You suggest that Mr. Dennett may not be in his right mind. I do not know anything about that. We do not know anything about it. I repeat that we do not understand the affair at all. It may be unexplained in time."

Mrs. Dennett is a lovely woman and everybody has a fine opinion of her. No body can attach any blame to her. This is going leaping into the street.

greatly to blame is Mrs. Chase. Of course it is all right for her to be friendly with Hartley Dennett in this way or with any other man if the relation is ideal, but the wrong comes in when some one else suffers from it. She has known, of course, that she was breaking up the Dennett home and knowing that Mrs. Dennett could not understand how unusual and delicate the situation is and I am glad he made such a just decision. Of course Mary Dennett should have control of the children.

"One can't help feeling that the only one to blame in this affair is Mrs. Chase. She seems to be under the influence of Mrs. Chase, and we all think he would be all right if it were not for her."

Women Rivals in 'Soul Love' Sensation

Mrs. H. Lincoln Chase. Mrs. Hartley Dennett.

Dr. Chase Says:

"The phrases 'soul-mate' and 'mental affinity' have been used in this case. I prefer 'family friend.'

"There are pure and impure kisses. Those that have passed between Dennett and my wife mean nothing but fraternal friendship.

"I gladly welcome my friend Dennett to my home, where he will remain for the present."

Mrs. Chase Says:

"I am not in hiding, as there is nothing for me to hide."

Mr. Dennett Says:

"I am very grateful to Dr. and Mrs. Chase for their kindness to me. I think Dr. Chase's attitude disposes of any charge of wrongdoing."

BARKING DOG SCARES AWAY DYNAMITERS

NORTH BROOKFIELD, Sept. 24. The furious barking of a dog frustrated burglars who attempted to dynamite the safe in the postoffice early today. The thieves were frightened away before they got at the contents of the safe, but they rifled the money drawer and got away with about $30 in cash and stamps. The lawless ones fled in an automobile.

The dog is the property of Mrs. M. A. Doyle, who keeps a millinery establishment in the rear of the postoffice. It was about 2 o'clock when the continued barking of the dog aroused Mrs. Doyle. While she was making an investigation the blast went off, with which the burglars tried to blow open the safe.

Hastily dressing, she ran out and hurried to the home of Postmaster H. A. Foster. By the time Mr. Foster got to the scene the burglars had left. The front door had been jimmied open and the other doors opened by breaking the glass and then sprinting back the lock.

The burglars had earlier in the evening gone to John Kennedy's stable and got two blankets with which they sought to muffle the explosion.

CAR TRUCK FALLS FROM L STRUCTURE

NEW YORK, Sept. 24. One man was seriously injured and dozens of persons narrowly escaped being maimed or killed today when a train on the Brooklyn Rapid Transit switching at Manhattan Crossing, East New York, loaded the front end of one of the cars toppled over the elevated structure and hung there. The rear truck of this car, weighing more than a ton, crashed into the street and just missed striking a crowded Broadway trolley car. A panic took place, most of the persons in the two New York will see very little of Mr. Frohman.

MYSTERY IN SPECIAL GRAND JURY SESSION

The first special sitting or extraordinary session of the grand jury since the days of the late District Attorney Marsh began to-day. The reason for it, on the side of District Attorney Hill's office and court attaches, is a mystery. The officers who served the notices jealously guarded the secret.

The grand jury reported to Judge Fessenden to-day and then retired to the second civil session court room, where the curtains were drawn and the door closed to maintain perfect secrecy for deliberations.

This room was used because the regular grand jury room is being used by the clerk of the superior civil court during alterations at the courthouse.

Outside the present grand jury room several women and eight men sat on settees. It was believed they were witnesses waiting to be called before the grand jury.

TRAINING SHIP IS OFF TO GIBRALTAR

Parents and friends of the cadets of the Massachusetts Nautical Training School will be interested to learn that a cablegram received here to-day stated that the U. S. S. CHARLES FROHMAN TO LIVE IN LONDON

Hereafter Charles Frohman's address will be London. The American theatrical manager is going to make his home in the British metropolis. His headquarters will be in his new Globe Theatre in London instead of the Empire here and except for a hurried trip across the Atlantic for a week or two New York will see very little of Mr. Frohman.

AFTER-EFFECTS OF THE GRIP

Tonic Treatment Is Necessary After the Acute Stage of the Disease Is Past Before the Health Can Be Fully Restored.

A single attack of the grip may mean a lifetime of misery if proper precautions are not taken to restore the blood and drive out the lingering poisons that cause the so-called "after-effects" of the disease.

The danger from the grip is seldom over when the characteristic symptoms, fever, the catarrh, the headache and the depression of spirits pass away. The grip leaves behind it weakened vital powers, thin blood, impaired digestion and over-sensitive nerves—a condition that makes the system an easy prey to pneumonia, bronchitis, rheumatism, nervous prostration, and even consumption. Too much stress cannot be laid on the importance of strengthening the blood and nerves during convalescence.

This tonic treatment quickly restored Mrs. J. C. Reid, of No. 253 1-2 Fifth street, Jersey City, N. J., to health. She says:

"After an attack of the grip, which confined me to bed for about three weeks, I was left in a weak, run-down condition. I was short of breath and had palpitation of the heart upon any little exertion. After going up stairs I would have to rest for several minutes. I was subject to splitting headaches and my kidneys were affected.

"The doctor's medicine was very slow in benefiting me and I decided to try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills as they had cured my daughter of weakness. I was relieved while taking the first box and continued with the pills until cured. I have been in perfect health since and have great faith in Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. I cheerfully recommend them to anyone who is suffering as I did."

Dr Williams' Pink Pills are always the same and are sold only in packages bearing the well-known trade-mark, "Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People." Pills sold in any other package, or loose, by the dozen or hundred are not the same, whatever the clerk tells you. The genuine are sold by all druggists or will be sent by mail, postpaid, on receipt of price, 50 cents per box, six boxes for $2.50, by the Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Schenectady, N. Y.

NORTH RIVER FILLED WITH WARSHIPS FOR HUDSON-FULTON FETE

places at 10 o'clock. They, too, had been greeted with all the enthusiasm that gunpowder could give.

Salutes for the Half Moon.

It was hard to discern the moving British war machines as they plowed through the fog, as their lead colored hulls blended perfectly with the mist.

Ready for its part in to-morrow's naval parade, the Halfmoon, full rigged and manned by a crew from the Dutch cruiser Utrecht, was towed by a tug from the navy yards in Brooklyn to the naval anchorage at Tompkinsville, where she will remain until to-morrows morning. The old craft performed such a feat during this trip and every boat that spied it split the air with steam salutes. Those on the Halfmoon were kept busy dipping the flag in response.

The great pageant commemorates the 100th anniversary of the beginning of steam maritime navigation, and the 300th anniversary of Hudson's trip up the Hudson. The celebration will close on October 2.

Lighting Scheme a Marvel.

Two of the features of the centennial are replicas of the Half Moon and the Clermont. The naval parade, the great educational features and the vast lighting scheme go to make up the most comprehensive plan of entertainment and education ever attempted. A million school children in Greater New York will take part in the exercises to be held both in and out of the public schools.

Signal fires will flicker from the heights stretching along the Hudson between this city and Troy. The lighting scheme is a marvel. Lights controlled by the power of 26,000,000 candles will be stretched through the parks and over the waterfront. Even the mighty fleet which gathered in Hampton Roads after the world-girdling tour was over was small compared with the great mass of naval fighting strength which will parade in the Hudson to-morrow.

The Clermont and Half Moon will enter the river accompanied by the roars of whistles and gun salutes. When the American and foreign naval vessels have taken their stations the guests will disembark and be received upon big landing stages constructed at One Hundred and Tenth street and Riverside Drive.

The night pageant on the river to-morrow evening will be a fitting climax to the great scenes of the day.

Wilbur Wright to-day put the finishing touches upon his aviation plans for the celebration. He completed the work of assembling his aeroplane, laying the monorail track and inspecting the ground at Governors Island. The track was placed in its shed out of the cold drizzle of rain which the sea winds fanned over the island this morning. Mr. Wright is highly pleased with the grounds, as they are so arranged that he can be free from crowds. He does not think there is much danger of falling into the sea. As the daring aviator stood beside his machine gazing at the rugged skyline of skyscrapers which loomed through the fog to-day, he got a full conception of the hazards which will attend the flights. Aside from the possibility of a ducking in the sea he must sail over boats or thirty story buildings.

The machine in which Glenn H. Curtiss will fly, the same one in which he won the international aviation cup at Rheims, will arrive to-morrow upon the steamship Savoia.

Hudson Would Feel at Home.

The Half Moon is exactly like the boat Henry Hudson sailed. Many things have been added since she arrived here. If Hudson boarded the boat he would feel at home.

In the poop cabin, where were Hudson's quarters and which Lieutenant Lamb of the cruiser Utrecht will occupy on the trip to Newburg, many strange things will be found. There are a bed, a table with a movable top and a bench in four divisions, so that the seafaring captain may have something to hold to when the little ship rolls. There are cupboards, and on the table is a duplicate of the contract between the old navigator and the Chamber of Amsterdam of the United East India Company.

Another document on the table is the map of the world, as Hudson knew it, made from the original now in the British Museum.

Two small swivel guns stand on either side of the deck, and near the mainmast is the bittock with which to hoist the yards.

Deck Fulton's Grave.

NEW YORK, Sept. 24.—A little band of men and women gathered in the drizzle in Trinity Church yard to-day to decorate the grave of Robert Fulton. In the party were two great granddaughters of the inventor, Mrs. Arthur Taylor Sutcliffe and Miss Cornelia Fulton Craty, and a great-grandson, H. Schuyler Cannon, whose mother Mrs. Hermann H. Cammann, is the only living granddaughter of Fulton. Fulton's body lie in the vault of the Livingston family, into which he married. There is nothing to indicate that he is buried there, the vault being marked only by a stone slab on which is carved, "The vault of Robert and Walter, sons of Robert Livingston."

LOVE SPURNED, KILLS WOMAN AND HIMSELF

ST. JOHNSBURY, Vt., Sept. 24.—Abel Hartshorn, a wealthy farmer and horse breeder of Danville, nine miles from here, to-day shot and killed Mrs. Kate Frye, a neighbor, then took strychnine, and before the poison took effect turned the revolver on himself and fired a bullet into his own brain.

Hartshorn was married and leaves a wife and child. Mrs. Frye was also married. She leaves a husband and daughters. For over a year Hartshorn has been in love with Mrs. Frye. He presented her with all kinds of gifts, including a horse and carriage. Recently he tried to get her to run away with him.

Mrs. Frye became alarmed and told her husband. He had her return the gifts and then saw a lawyer.

Frye then filed suit against Hartshorn, charging him with alienating his wife's affections. He asked $10,000 damages. The papers were served last Wednesday. Hartshorn became enraged and threatened to kill Mrs. Frye and himself. He was laughed at.

The first of the week he was seen hanging about the Frye place. The members of the family became alarmed and never left Mrs. Frye alone. Frye purchased a revolver and taught his wife how to use it.

To-day he left her for the first time, although he left a fifteen-year-old boy named Ray Taylor in the house. Just after he left Hartshorn appeared and entered the house. He threatened Mrs. Frye and she got her revolver. Before she could fire Hartshorn knocked the weapon from her hand. He then emptied his own weapon at her, ran out and killed himself.

MUNSEY TOUR AUTOS REACH BOSTON TODAY

The Munsey automobile tourists who are making the trip from Washington to Boston, left Albany early to-day for the last leg of their trip to Boston. They were here late to-day. To-day's run of 19 miles is one of the longest in the tour.

The twenty-five cars in the tour reach Worcester at 1 p. m. and then go to Shrewsbury, Marlboro, Wayland, Weston, down Commonwealth avenue to Beacon street, to Massachusetts avenue, to Boylston street and to the Bay State Auto Club on Hemenway street, where the tour ends. The headquarters of the boulets will be at the Hotel Somerset. They will be given a reception to-night at the auto club. Monday morning the tourists go to New York.

Six cars in the run have perfect scores thus far. They are No. 9, Maxwell; No. 17, Croxton-Keeton; No. 28, Marmon; No. 96, Munsey; No. 12, Pullman, and No. 28, Renault.

Muddy roads on the way to Albany were responsible for the reduction of the number of cars having perfect scores.

Besides the tourists in the reliability run there are a number of official cars, carrying newspaper men, photographers and judges. Chief Starter Covert is in a Mercwell, a National six acts as pacemaker; an E. M. F. machine and a Midland are the pilot cars, and the newspaper men are in a Chalmers-Detroit and a Studebaker. Joe Matson is driving the Chalmers car and Yeager the Studebaker.

ROAD'S LAXITY TESTIFIED AT CRASH INQUIRY

CONCORD, N. H., Sept. 24.—The Board of Railroad Commissioners to-day began an investigation into the collision at Penacook which three men lost their lives when the Montreal express ran into the Quebec express, which was delayed by a disabled locomotive.

Conductor Morgan testified that the rules of the New Hampshire Railroad, which is operated by the Boston & Maine, required two brakemen for all passenger trains of five cars. Train No. 4, the Montreal express, with which No. 6 collided, was made up of five cars and yet the conductor said that he had but one brakeman, Frank Clinton of Concord.

It was Clinton's duty to protect the rear end, Morgan said. He declared there was a tacit understanding between the management and the men that the brakeman should attend to his duties on the train, and not be found in the rear to flag except in cases of great emergency. He stated that with occasional exceptions on and more than two trains on the entire division was the rear car guarded constantly.

It also developed that the operator who had charge of the signals and the sending out of trains from the White River Junction was a boy of eighteen years.

The testimony given when Mr. Ray had placed the blame in a signed statement given to the newspapers some days ago are represented by Nathaniel E. Martin of Concord.

CHUM KNEW RUSSELL BY OLD CIPHER

a note. It was in the code that he and I used.

"What was in the note?"

"I will write it for you."

Writes Out Cipher.

The witness then wrote the note and it was admitted as an exhibit. This is what was written on the note: "C. E. B. R. F. D."

"Do you know what this means?" the witness was then asked.

"Yes."

"Will you state it?"

The witness replied that he would rather not and was allowed to explain the contents to the court.

A previous witness, Mrs. Crafts, was asked:

"Is this the identical Daniel Russell, son of Daniel Russell of Melrose, whom you knew in childhood and young manhood?"

"Yes, it is," replied Mrs. Crafts in a firm tone.

Mrs. Crafts was then cross-examined by Attorney Proctor for the respondent, William C. Russell, who now holds the estate left by the father, and to whom the petitioner claims to be a brother.

Under his questioning Mrs. Crafts said she recognized Russell at once when he called at her house last April. She said:

"I was up stairs when the bell rang on the day Danny Russell called at my house. My granddaughter answered the bell. She called up: 'A man is here to see you!' I said: 'all right, show him in.'

"He came up stairs and into the parlor and as soon as I looked at him I knew that he was Danny Russell."

"Did you know him before he spoke," Mrs. Crafts was then asked.

"Yes," she answered, "I knew it was he just as soon as I saw him."

"How did you know him?"

"He had the same features as he had when a boy. His nose was the same, his mouth looked just as it did then and his forehead was the same shape. The only difference was that his face seemed to be a little fuller."

CRAZED MAN NEARLY CUTS HIS HEAD OFF

FALL RIVER, Sept. 24.—Timothy Ryan, No. 27 Notis Eighth street, committed suicide this morning by slashing his throat so that the head was nearly severed. All the veins, arteries and windpipe were cut. Ryan had been well for a week, although he worked up to last evening. He imagined someone was pursuing him. His wife was up to the door where she knew he kept his razors, and she rushed out for help but when Officer Galvin reached the house Ryan was found dead.

MAN AND GIRL DROWN.

NEW YORK, Sept. 24.—The police were searching to-day for the bodies of a man and girl who were thrown overboard when the Madigar, a launch in which they were crossing from the New York to the Jersey side, was upset and smashed in a collision with a tow line.

PAYNE TO LEARN GOLF.

SYRACUSE, N. Y., Sept. 24.—Following in the footsteps of President Taft, Congressman Sereno E. Payne, father of the tariff bill, has decided to learn golf. He has ordered a complete golfing outfit, including a book on the vernacular and will begin practising upon the links near his home in Auburn as soon as they arrive.

LOTTA FAUST ASKS DIVORCE

NEW YORK, Sept. 24.—Lotta Faust, whose Salome dance in costume and pearl head costume created excited rumors here a year ago, will bring suit for divorce against Richie Ling, the light opera tenor, in Chicago next week, if the efforts of her attorneys to have the bill ready for filing at the time prove successful.

The technical charge is said to be desertion. The Rialto has for some time had rumors that there was serious disagreement in the family of the tenor and the dancer, but the actual break has not been expected.

Miss Faust's permanent residence is the St. James Hotel here. Ling's home was in Chicago before his marriage there to Miss Faust in March, 1902. The fact that their matrimonial venture lasted seven years has made the news of their marital break a surprise.

RAIL BLOCKED BY COLLISION

Several freight and refrigerator cars were derailed and some of them wrecked when two trains collided early to-day on the Midland division of the New Haven railroad at the South Boston Station. Because of a misplaced switch or because the crossover was jolted from position, one train struck the other broadside. No one was hurt. The out-bound track of the Midland division was blocked for several hours.

O'HARE ANXIOUS TO KNOW ALL FACTS

"I want to disclaim all responsibility for the delay in starting the investigation by the aldermanic committee of the charges made by Alderman Curley that prominent politicians have been carried on the payrolls of the New England Sanitary Reduct Company," said Alderman J. Frank O'Hare to-day. "I have twice suggested to the chairman of the committee that we proceed with the investigation relying upon counsel furnished us by the law department."

UNKNOWN WOMAN DEAD.

An unidentified woman was found dead in bed early to-day in a lodging house at No. 11 Gordon street, South End. She had a room there since September 16. Mrs. Annie Doherty, the landlady of the house, who found the woman dead, notified the police, says she knows nothing of the family of friends of the dead woman. She was about forty years old, and of dark complexion. Medical Examiner Leary was notified.

GEN. HUBBARD TELLS PEARY TO STOP FIGHT AND SHOW HIS DATA

BAR HARBOR, Me., Sept. 24.—General Thomas Hubbard, president of the Peary Arctic Club, announced to-day that a meeting would be called very soon, when the officers of the club will consider every phase of the controversy between Commander Robert E. Peary and Dr. Frederick A. Cook and their supporters. Zenas Crane, vice-president of the club, and Herbert L. Bridgman, secretary, are now in New York preparing for the meeting.

It is likely that Peary will not make his public statement attacking Dr. Cook until after the meeting. General Hubbard would make no statement to-day declaring that he wants to give full consideration to the Commander's data and observations, first. It is understood that General Hubbard despises the controversy and has advised Peary to compile his scientific report, submitting this to whatever bodies without delay lend to Dr. Cook. It is reported that this course may be followed.

On Monday or Tuesday the explorer will furnish further information to General Hubbard supplementing the data which he tendered yesterday. General Hubbard today began his investigating experts.

Commander Peary made this statement to-day: "There are some things in Cook's report I wish to explain to General Hubbard. After General Hubbard has read the documents I shall meet him and then I shall be ready to answer any questions about the discovery of the Pole, including those about Dr. Cook which I have refused to detail."

Peary believes that when General Hubbard gives the word, the public will be placed in possession of evidence which will utterly discredit Dr. Cook's claim for polar honors.

Will Prove Claims.

"I will show proof of all that I have proclaimed," said Commander Peary. "I will show that I reached the Pole, the first and only man to nail the flag at the top of the earth."

General Hubbard, upon whom depends the publication of the Peary charges, is a New York lawyer. He legal mind is expected to clear the Peary documents of all flaws and present the case of Peary vs. Cook before the public in a way that will leave no loophole for the defense.

The report of Dr. Cook's reception in New York, which has been closely followed by Commander Peary, is supposed to have driven him to hurry the presentation of his case. His statement following his interview with General Hubbard was the first indication of his willingness to at once present his proofs.

Great Welcome to Portland.

Peary's reception-welcome to Portland was a great triumph for the explorer.

Never has the city accorded such a reception to any man as was given to the commander. Thousands cheered themselves hoarse at the Union station, other thousands lined the streets for two miles and bubbled over with enthusiasm, while at the Auditorium, where a public reception was given by the explorer, the crowd was so large that attendants, men, women and children passed by him in a double line for two hours; there were hundreds who could not even gain admission.

In a brief address at the Auditorium, Peary replied to the enthusiastic welcome. Regarding the attainment of the pole, he said:

"It is too big a thing for any egotism and, irrespective of any individualism, it is the unfurling of the Stars and Stripes and all it stands for with the top of the earth, that has been accomplished.

"I have been asked what is the scientific value of the discovery of the North Pole. There are some things about it that are a great deal greater than the gathering of a few additional data about the earth.

COOK ANSWERS PEARY CRITICISM BEFORE SCIENTISTS

NEW YORK, Sept. 24.—Before the most brilliant audience he had addressed since he left the court of Denmark, and which included many men of note in the scientific world, Dr. Frederick A. Cook, the Brooklyn explorer, reaffirmed his success in reaching the North Pole and briefly replied to some of the criticism which has arisen from the charges by Commander Robert E. Peary. He declared he did not seek a geographic license to start for the Pole because he wished to escape the bombast and flourish of trumpets.

The criticism of insufficient equipment he answered by declaring that he had every possible aid for sledge traveling. "A big ship is no advantage," he declared. "An army of white men, who at best are novices in a direct hindrance while a combersome luxury of equipment is fatal to success."

Dr. Cook at the close of his speech said: "There is glory enough for all."

In introducing Dr. Cook, Rear Admiral Schley said the explorer is challenged by envy and grudging life for his behavior.

Dr. Cook in his speech said:

"Your welcome is the explorer's guerdon. It is the world-soothing as it rises from fellow workers, from men who know and have gone through the ordeal. To me it is an appreciation and a victory. The highest reward I could fell to the Pole is my returning traveler.

"The road January 1 to fright endeavor is subsistence. There is nothing in the entire realm of the Arctic which is impossible to man. If the animal dies are supplied with adequate food there is no cold too severe and no obstacle too great to surmount. The exhausted food supply resulting from a limited means of transportation has caused every explorer from Parry to Peary. This problem is a large one—too large and too complex to examine at this time. In the ages of the past every land has been tried and much has been learned.

Laid to Tariff.

"The report in Wall Street about the pool," said Mr. Macleo, who is chairman of the Wholesale Dry Goods Committee of New York, which moves earnestly at the special session of Congress to prevent an increase in the cotton schedule, "is all well with what I saw and heard a few days ago while in conference with the New Bedford and Rhode Island delegates.

"I was surprised to learn that the biggest mills up there, such as those controlled by Ex-Senator Aldrich, the Du Pont, are refusing to make contracts beyond January 1. Lippett and McCall are the men who made the new cotton schedule for Congress. Lippett is known to Senator Aldrich's political manager in Rhode Island. His mills are also owned by Pawtucket. I suppose the big manufacturers are helping the pool because they see an opportunity to make more money than the New York Cotton Exchange between now and the first of the year than they do in taking orders for goods to be delivered after January 1.

Strikes Are Feared.

"It is also evident to me that for the first time in many years Wall Street now has complete mastery of the cotton situation in the United States. That is a bad sign.

"The New England manufacturers, of course, will say the high prices of next year is the result entirely of the pool. I don't believe, however, that they can longer fool the people with that sort of argument. Prices of the finished product started up as soon as the mere tariff bill was passed. I wouldn't be at all surprised if there should be a big general strike of the cotton mills in the New England district as soon as the pool now manipulating the cotton market accomplishes its purpose. If the big mill owners up there didn't have some notion of forcing a strike they certainly would not refuse to make contracts for delivery after January."

PATTEN'S POOL TO CAUSE BIG MILL STRIKE?

The big jump in the price of cotton, with a probable rise of $2 per bale more, will result. New England manufacturers say, in one of three things—an advance in the price of cotton goods, the curtailment of production or strikes and closing of factories.

The persistent report comes from New York that James A. Patten, of the famous wheat gambler, William P. Brown and others have formed a pool to bull cotton. Patten and the men said to be associated with him deny that they have formed such a combine.

It is claimed that manufacturers are helping the pool so that they may make more money on the low prices by the change. The Aldrich tariff bill is also held responsible for the jump in cotton prices.

R. K. Macleo, one of the big cotton merchants of New York, who recently made a trip through New England to look over the situation, has this to say:

MRS. BESANT, WHO MAKES STARTLING THEOSOPHIC CLAIM

ANNIE BESANT IS HYPATIA BORN ANEW?

CLEVELAND, O., Sept. 24.—Intimate friends of Mrs. Annie Besant, president of the Theosophical Society of the World, declared here to-day that their leader had confided to them that she was a reincarnation of Hypatia and Giordano Bruno.

"It is certain that Mrs. Besant has been Hypatia and Bruno," said Mrs. E. O. Peets, president of the Cleveland Theosophical Society. "She remembers all every day of her existence as those characters."

Mrs. Besant told her adherents that one of the strongest proofs of her claim that she is a reincarnation of the two characters is that she has been persecuted throughout her life. She avers her former selves have just been revealed to her after seven years' hard study in England and India in an effort to clear her past.

During the time of Confucius Mrs. Besant says she lived as different characters, but she cannot recall their names. She predicts that she will live again.

GERTRUDE LAWSON BRIDE AT BELMONT

Miss Gertrude Lawson of Melrose, the favorite niece of Thomas W. Lawson, was married quietly in Belmont on Wednesday last to Walter Lawrence Shepard, treasurer of the Shepard Manufacturing Company, of the first named city. Her father, J. H. Lawson, was present at the ceremonies as well as Mr. Shepard's mother. There was nothing which warranted any rumor of an elopement. Miss Lawson and Mr. Shepard had been betrothed for three years and their romance began when the bride's father rescued the bridegroom from drowning in the presence of Miss Lawson. Mr. and Mrs. Shepard will go to Bar Harbor and the groom's Summer home at Littlejohn's Island, Me., on their wedding journey. They will reside at No. 20 Henry avenue, Melrose.

Among those at the wedding were John H. Lawson, Mrs. Shepard, the bride, groom's mother; Miss Bessie Shepard, Miss Dorothy Lawson and Miss Beatrice Pike of Concord, N. H. The marriage was at the parsonage of the Rev. Burke F. Leavitt in Belmont. Among the many costly wedding gifts were a gold watch set with rubies, the gift of Mr. Lawson, and one of the chairs used at the Russo-Jap peace conference at Portsmouth, N. H., the presentation of Mr. Roosevelt.

CITY HOSPITAL STATEMENT ON CLUBBING CASE

By WILLIAM HOSTER.

HELPER, Utah, Sept. 24.—Senator Reed Smoot, Congressman Howell and the reception committee from Salt Lake welcomed President Taft to Utah at 8:45 a. m. to-day when the presidential train arrived at this place. Helper is seventy miles from Provo, Senator Smoot's home town, where the first big welcome is tendered the President prior to his entry into Salt Lake late to-day. Helper did its share, however, a crowd of 600 being on hand to cheer the President. He made a few speeches and then the train was continued on toward Provo.

Colorado was left behind early to-day. Three days has been given to the Centennial State and the President and party have received will live long in its memory. It was hearty, appreciative and overflowing in picturesque.

Up to the end of his stay in Montana the big crowds followed him about. It was a big ovation at the meeting in Lehi Park when the Colorado festivities came to an end, as did also Secretary Ballinger's. Ballinger, who made a brief address.

The party then returned to the train which at 10 p. m. pulled out for Grand Junction. The latter place was reached at 1:55 a. m. and a fifteen minute stop was made there for refreshments. There was a crowd about the station, but the President had long since retired and after a few rounds of cheering the crowd dispersed.

This will be the President's first visit to Salt Lake. For this reason and the further one that he is fond of Senator Smoot, whose city but the request that they made never has ever been one of the friendliest and hard-headed business, not to say Mormon reached the President.

TAFT FATIGUED FROM ACTIVE WEEK; AVOIDS SALT LAKE CITY ROW

sense, served the President well during the tariff fight. He is starting two days and a half to the Mormon city.

He will be met at the station upon his arrival and escorted to the Knutsford Hotel for a brief rest, after which there will be a motor ride to Fort Douglas, where there will be a review of the troops, a banquet and speeches. On Saturday morning the President will have another motor ride, following which he will attend an organ recital at the Tabernacle, and then go to Saltair bathing resort.

Golf Game Planned.

A game of golf and reception are planned for the afternoon at the Country Club, and there will be a public reception at the Commercial Club in the evening.

On Sunday he is expected to review the living day of school children. He will leave Salt Lake at noon on Sunday for Ogden, where three hours will be spent before proceeding to Butte, Mont.

President Is Tired.

The President's plans for Salt Lake City have undergone a slight change. Instead of appearing twice in the Mormon Tabernacle he will now deliver an address there in the morning in the place of the organ recital, and that will be his only appearance in the Tabernacle.

This change has been made by the committee at the request of the President, who is greatly fatigued by reason of his strenuous week. The proposed double appearance of the President in the Tabernacle was the subject of great indignation on the part of the Gentiles in the Mormon

BURGLARS FLEE BANKER PAINE WOMEN'S CRIES IS DEAD AT 56

Two burglars were almost scared to death Sunday when they entered the house of George Parker on Marshall street, Watertown, and started to ransack the place.

Climbing through the pantry window the men, who evidently knew that Mr. Parker was away on his vacation, started up one flight and waited into a room occupied by Miss Jessie McKee and Mrs. A. S. Farrington. The women shrieked and the men jumped and ran, tumbling down the stairs and escaping through the door before the crowd which the women's cries collected could get after them. A dozen people and two policemen joined in the chase, but the men escaped.

ESKIMOS TOLD EXPLORER JENSEN COOK FOUND POLE

COPENHAGEN, Sept. 24.—Dangaard Jenson, the Danish Inspector of North Greenland, who came here on the same ship with Dr. Cook, says the latter met Dr. Cook at Upernavik in the middle of June. During two months of examination Dr. Cook gave details of his North Pole trip. Jenson says fully satisfied him. Jensen declares that he has become well acquainted with Arctic explorations during his ten years' stay in Greenland.

The middle of August Jensen met at Etah Commander Rasmussen, who had returned direct from Cape York, where, in conjunction with Peary, he had given Cook's two Eskimos, last met several others who had made the trip. These told Rasmussen about Cook's trip, their story being in close agreement with Cook's explanation, Jensen says.

Jensen says he knows that Eskimos time after time tell a story in the same manner, one repeating the expressions used by the other. Therefore he felt himself fully convinced that the statement of Cook's two Eskimos had been correctly repeated and understood by Rasmussen. Therefore Jensen made his report to the Danish government that Dr. Cook had reached the Pole.

BARS CHECKS LESS THAN $1

WASHINGTON, Sept. 24.—Charles D. Norton, acting secretary of the treasury, has asked law officers of the government to give an opinion as to the construction to be put upon the provision in the Penal Code of the United States which placed a ban on all checks for less than $1.

The mail order houses throughout the country appear to be much concerned on account of this provision. The new code was approved on March 4, 1909, and will go into effect on January 1, 1910. The language of the provision forbids the making, issuance, circulation or paying out of any note, check, memorandum, token or other obligation for less than a dollar.

Business firms who have been interviewed as to the effect of the new enactment say it will mean a big increase of postage stamps, subsidiary coins and post office money orders in lieu of the bank checks for payment of accounts representing fractions of a dollar.

LYNN WOMEN ISSUE A DEFI

"Will the members of the Equal Rights Club speak on Lynn Common to-morrow afternoon?"

This is the question agitating the minds of Lynn people.

Chairman Nathan M. Hawkes of the Park Commission declares that the women must obey the regulations forbidding speechmaking on the common, and that he will have plenty of policemen on hand to see that they are carried out.

On the other hand, Miss Susannah W. Berry states that the common is the property of the people and that public meetings can be held there. She has invited Chairman Hawkes to attend the meeting.

Chairman Hawkes will be present, although he has not as yet accepted Mrs. Berry's invitation. He will direct the police to rout the women from the common should they attempt to hold the meeting there.

MARS CLOSEST EVER TO-DAY

CHICAGO, Sept. 24.—Mars will be as close to Mother Earth to-night as she ever has been. To-morrow she will begin to roll away again at the rate of several hundred thousand miles an hour, and will not pay us another visit for fifteen years.

Mars is still 30,000,000 miles or so away, but the scientists are getting much satisfaction out of its present neighborliness. They have seen both its poles, with their snowcaps, and that is more than they can say of the earth.

"There is no question that there is life to some form on Mars," said Professor Philip Fox, the new director of Dearborn Observatory, to-day. "With Mars nearer now than it will be again for fifteen years, we are able to see more. With the instruments here I have seen the bright ring about the poles expand and contract with the advance of the seasons. They must be ice and snow; they couldn't be anything else. And they must melt and freeze, according as it is Summer or Winter. This must mean that the temperature is practically the same as the earth's.

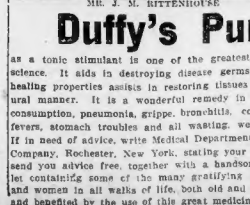
"A Remarkable Invigorating Remedy"

Thus spoke Mr. J. M. Rittenhouse, a well-known and highly respected business and church man of Norristown, Pa.

Mr. and Mrs. Rittenhouse, full of vigor, hale and hearty, celebrated their golden wedding last year surrounded by their children, grandchildren and great grandchildren.



MR. J. M. RITTENHOUSE

In an interview Mr. Rittenhouse said: "I have used Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey for many years and find it most beneficial and invigorating to body, brain and nerves. I am troubled with malaria and find your medicinal whiskey a wonderful help to check it. When used as prescribed Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey is a remarkable remedy."

This case is similar to that of thousands of men and women who have been kept hale, hearty and vigorous far beyond the threescore and ten mark by the use of Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey as a medicine. It is a food requiring no digestion, which has a stimulating and tonic effect upon the system, as a tonic stimulant is one of the greatest strength-givers known to science. It aids in destroying disease germs, and by its building and healing properties assists in restoring tissues in a gradual, healthy, natural manner. It is a wonderful remedy in the treatment and cure of consumption, pneumonia, grippe, bronchitis, coughs, colds, malaria, low-fevers, stomach troubles and all wasting, weakened, diseased conditions. If in need of advice, write Medical Department. The Duffy Malt Whiskey Company, Rochester, New York, stating your case fully. Our doctors will send you advice free, together with a handsome illustrated medical booklet containing some of the many gratifying letters received from men and women in all walks of life, both old and young, who have been cured and benefited by the use of this great medicine. It is sold everywhere by druggists, grocers and dealers, or shipped direct for $1.00 per bottle.

Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey

BOSTON LEAGUE OPEN BOWLING TOURNAMENT

Greater Boston League will start to-night instead of next week, as originally intended. There are sixteen teams in the field, and there certainly promises to be plenty of competition in the thirty weeks of rolling.

The following teams are entered for the cash prizes: Somerset and Carlton of Bowling; Alston, Central and Prospect of Cambridge; East Cambridge, North Cambridge; Brighton, Chelsea Square, Neddle of East Boston, Buick of Lynn, Hills of Charlestown, Revere, Pilgrim of South Boston, Malden and Wilchfield.

This evening Pilgrim will roll at Carruth, Prospect at Brighton, Hills at Winthrop, Buick at Somerset, East Cambridge at Chelsea Square, North Cambridge at Alston, Revere at Neddle, and Malden at Central.

The City League will this year be considerably smaller than last season, for there will be but eight teams in the field and all confined to down town alleys, with the exception of Mush Murray's at Dover and Washington streets. The other teams are Carruth, Eliot, Adams Square, McCarthy Boylston Hub and Somerset. The season will start next Wednesday night.

SPEEDY DILLON FAMILY.

The Sidney Dillon family was very prominent. Pietta Dillon rolled in 2,105, equalling the two-period daily pacing record. Martha Dillon and Mary Dillon are both winners, the former cutting her record to 2.10½, and the latter clearing herself a high-class performer by going in 2.08½.

KETCHEL IN NO SHAPE TO HAVE MET LANGFORD

NEW YORK, Sept. 28.—More stories have developed, which if true lend color to the belief that the Ketchel-Langford fiasco was the result of a plot hatched by Hoff promoters and aided by persons supposed to be friendly disposed toward Ketchel.

An influential politician, whose veracity there seems to be no reason for doubting, is responsible for the statement that last week before the Fairmont Club called the big bout off Willus Britt informed him confidentially that Ketchel had no chance to defeat Langford, as one of his hands had been seriously injured while training. According to this man's story Britt said it was the same hand Ketchel "threw" in the recent mut with Papke in California. This information, coming from the inside, is said to have caused certain wise men about town to hedge wagers made on Ketchel or to refrain from betting at all.

Joe Woodman's Statement.

Joe Woodman, Langford's manager, declares that the opposition to five-hour go due to indirect influence exerted by persons who injured their associates or defeated and that in his opinion other persons who were jealous of the Fairmont Club rendered assistance in having the attention of Governor Hughes called to the bout.

From Ketchel and Britt, who are on their way to California, comes the alleged declaration that if Ketchel defeats Jack Johnson on October 12 at Colma he will promptly draw the color line by refusing to fight Langford under any circumstances.

Persons who know Ketchel said yesterday that they did not believe he was afraid to tackle Langford here and was much disappointed when the bout was declared off. They also declared that if allowed to have his own way Ketchel would willingly settle his differences with Langford, win or lose.

Meanwhile the impression on the Coast grows stronger that Johnson will give Ketchel as easily as he trimmed Kaufman. The betting on the coast is 10 to 4 that Johnson will win on points in twenty rounds, and even money that Ketchel will be put to sleep.

If Ketchel's bout with Langford has been allowed and the Michigan Boy has won decisively interest in the bout with Johnson would have been doubly increased, but as it is now ring experts with few exceptions believe that the Johnson-Ketchel fight will be one-sided all the way.

INJUNCTION PERMITS TRENDALL FIGHT

ST. LOUIS, Mo., Sept. 24.—Harry Trendall of St. Louis had all the best of the ten-round battle with George Memsic of Chicago at the Suburban Garden last night and was given the decision. For the first seven rounds the fighting was fairly even and both fighters did considerable damage during the period. Then Trendall's youth and better training began to tell in his favor.

The threatened stopping of the bout by Sheriff Gruenhagen was prevented by an injunction issued several hours before the fight.

FIRST YALE SCRIMMAGE ON TO-DAY

NEW HAVEN, Ct., Sept. 24.—The hot wave has kept football practice at Yale Field down to the lightest possible point, signal rehearsal both morning and afternoon forming the schedule. No scrimmaging was ordered, but Head Coach Jones has told the players to be ready for it to-day.

For the first time since Captain Ted Coy of the Yale football eleven was removed to a New York hospital for an operation an official announcement was last night made by the University Football Association of the nature of his illness. He is declared to have been ruptured and an operation became necessary through the development this Summer of an old bruise. It was given out that Coy will be able to leave his bed to-day. He has been forbidden to play before the Yale-Colgate game, October 23. Coy will be able to return to Yale Field and see the eleven practise in about two weeks.

Clapp Carey has returned and is placed at quarterback on the second eleven. He had been delayed by an automobile tour. Robert Brown, tackle last year, has also returned. He was placed at right guard on the varsity. Fred Murphy, halfback for two years and baseball captain last season, is ill with malaria in Meyden and will be unable to report for a couple of weeks.

Gosnell is now the only veteran missing, aside from Captain Coy and Andrus, who cannot reach here till November 1.

The schedule for the Yale freshmen eleven was announced as follows by Manager Wheeler, the Junior who is freshman manager this Fall: October 7, New Haven High School at Yale Field; 9, Andover Academy at Andover; 16, Hotchkiss School at Lakeville; 23, Exeter Academy at Exeter; 30, Andover Academy at Yale Field; November 6, Princeton 1915 at Yale Field; 13, Harvard 1915 at Cambridge.

M'FARLAND IS HOT FOR DANE

CHICAGO, Sept. 24.—Packey McFarland, the Chicago lightweight, returned from New Orleans this afternoon, where on Sunday he fought Ray Bronson a ten round draw. Packey looks none the worse for the fight and declares that he was handed a lemon by Referee Woods.

The recent Nelson challenge has hurried Packey to Chicago from the South and McFarland is ready to take on the Dane. "I see where Nelson is ready to fight me if I will bet him five thousand on the side, but I hardly think he is sincere in this regard but I will be ready any time he shows an inclination to sign articles. I can get $10,000 in wagers if he wants to make it that strong."

Packey's next fight likely will be with Ad Wolgast, the Milwaukee featherweight, who recently bested Nelson in a ten round affair in the East.

GOLF GOSSIP
NEWS OF THE LINKS

On Saturday the Central Massachusetts golf championship will be played over the links of the Framingham Country Club.

The Leslie cup matches at Philadelphia this year will be followed with a great deal of interest here by those in the upper the Massachusetts team have by far the best balanced aggregation of golfers who have ever represented the Bay State.

The Pennsylvania State championship will start Saturday at the home of the Wilmington C. C. on Huntington Valley. There are the same two courses wherein rest the honors of the Leslie cup matches.

The Fall schedules at the different clubs seems to be void of dates for mixed foursomes. Next Sunday afternoon will be held on each holiday afternoon, the Spring and Fall meetings, and on Labor Day and Thanksgiving Day to look forward to in the Fall.

It is very cold at Myopia. Keep away, keep away.

STRONG TEAM AT MALDEN.

Malden High has six veterans back from the 1913 team to start the season. George Mines, who played left end on last year's championship team, has been made captain. Charles Cuddy is again coach and has about fifty-seven candidates out for the team. Dan Breslin, who was a substitute on the 1913 team, will probably be used at center regularly.

VARSITY TEAM SHOWS STRONG IN SCRIMMAGE

In a twelve-minute clash between the Harvard varsity and the second team, the opening scrimmage of the football season was held yesterday afternoon on Soldiers Field and the varsity scored once.

Later with the varsity substitutes playing against the substitutes of the second team another touchdown was made by the first string of men, 20 minutes being required.

For a first day the work of the varsity was good. All eyes were on O'Flaherty to see how he would show up as a quarterback, and he certainly looked like the man for the place. His playing was the life of the scrimmage. His signals were given quickly and the plays went off smoothly. The forward pass that resulted in the touchdown was perfectly executed.

Corbett was the only veteran in the varsity backfield, and he ripped up the seconds line for long gains. It was almost an even thing between him and Morrison, however, the latter showing up well in his first tryout in fast company. Last year he was second choice to Winston for fullback on the freshman. Perkins, the other man in the backfield, is now at the position and was only given the ball twice. He showed some promise for the place, but if he proves too slow can be used in the line, where he played last season.

Minot, the regular varsity fullback, was not on the field, as he is suffering from a slight illness, and Cliff Brown, although he watched the practice from the side lines, was excused from it for a slight indisposition. Henry Sprague, another of the veterans, has also been excused from practice for some time.

In the line, Hooper at right guard and Bob Fisher at left guard were both new. Hooper has been on the second team for two seasons and has put on weight this year.

STRAIGHT DOPE FOR SPORT FANS

I WAS TAKEN SEVERELY TO TASK yesterday for expressing the hope that it would be several years before Mike Twin Sullivan would box in Boston again, and I'm going to take it back. Something came up last night to make me wish to see him once more.

At the armory the other night a number of boxers were introduced in the ring, and each had his challenge ready to spring. Among these was Dan Sullivan, the younger but huskier brother of the Twins, whose challenge was for any man in the middleweight class. Now they tell me that Dan is a clever boy and tough and he may make his older brothers look like pikers before he gets through, but—got that but coming?—didn't he overlook the fact that there is one brunette citizen of Boston, named Langford, who can make the middleweight limit. I spoke to Joe Woodman about this and here is what Joe said:

"I'm glad that boy issued an open challenge to the middleweights, and I'll make a proposition which will give the Armory a chance to put on the best show they ever held. I have quite a wad of money that I intended to double up on the Ketchel-Langford bout, and I'll post it against half as much that Sam will stop the whole Sullivan family within fifteen rounds, taking them as one after the other the same night. They can put the three brothers on in any order they see fit and if Sam doesn't step all three within that limit, they can have my money, and Sam and I will go to work, and neither of us likes to do that."

I hope Billy Pierce, matchmaker of the Armory Club, will read this.

THAT WAS SOME STRIKE OUT baseball game yesterday, eighteen being registered during the afternoon. Nine of these were dealt out by Hall, who twirled the major part of the contest for the Red Sox, while Ades, the youngster who was tried out by the Naps, was there with eight. The extra one belongs to Mathews. Going some, I guess.

GET OUT YOUR "RAH-RAH-RAHS," dust them off and then take them out in the back yard to make sure they are in good working order for the really, truly, honest-to-goodness football season opens to-morrow, and it would never do not to have the noise producers ready, as that is an important part of the sport. About two dozen games are scheduled for to-morrow, in college and school circles, and a whole lot of these will take place on local lots. We still love our baseball, but oh, you gridiron.

Straight Dope, Boston American.

Will you put this in your column, Dope? It might help me out. All the way from Chicago, Ill., comes a letter to Bisher. It reads in full: Now I am broke, just as other young fellows all. Lucky thing I paid my rent for two weeks or I would be in the street. I am a pianist, can play classical and popular music. Can you put me next to a use if I send you my name and address? From a STRANGER.

Hard luck, old man, but you're not the first sport the pushes have put on a diet of coffee and sinkers. I'm printing your letter in the hope that someone will tip us off on a job that will put you on your feet, or on a piano stool, which means the same thing. In the mean time, if the coffee and sinkers fail, come around and I'll stake you to a seat in a feed shop.

Straight Dope, Boston American.

After closing a most successful baseball season by winning the championship of Boston, the mill hands Brighton Athletic Association, which they intend to have eclipse the previous football teams that the Athletics have put in the field in the past five seasons. One of the fastest and best known boys around Boston will be in the mill ranks for the team, such as Sweeny, Gill, Taylor and McCauley, of Boston College high; Welchin, Cropsey, Lee and Adamson of Mechanic Arts High. Adamson, who was captain of the Mechanic Arts team this year, and who is considered one of the best ends in the State, will probably be selected to head the Athletics for their battles this season. Any fast 140 lb. team in the State who would like to meet the Mill organization will address all challenges to Peter Scanlon, 79 Cabot st., Roxbury, Mass.

Straight Dope Boston American.

Having lived up here North for about a year and during that time have never missed the BOSTON AMERICAN for a single issue as I would like to compliment you on what I consider your good judgment in the kind of you have always taken. Now, down in my native heath we have Billy the Kid Johnson, and I believe in being fair when it comes to a show of merit, and I have seen Jeffries in action, or at least I have seen the man Johnson can clout the head off of anything in sight, also the man Langford can make Ketchel or any other white fighter do as awful stuff as were shown Friday night, but Jeffries at the present time is the biggest piker in the world, and I'll bet my last dollar on a number of my friends. I shall look for your column for results. HARRY STILFORT.

Haverhill, Mass.

Your dope listens well to me, Harry, except in one or two particulars. I do not believe Johnson can clout the head off anything in sight." I do not believe he can take Sam Langford into camp, nor do I believe he can trim Jeffries, if the latter can get into condition. I'm from Missouri on the proposition of Jeff getting in condition, though. In condition Jeff would be the best bet against any of the present day fighters, but unless he is right either Johnson or Langford can defeat him. I don't know of any others who could.

DORCHEN NOT TO RACE THE HUGI

PROVIDENCE, Sept. 24—There will be no race this year between the Boston-owned boat, the Dorchen, winner of the Somers-Foster cup at Cleveland this month, and Hugi, the crack 18-footer of the Narragansett Bay Yacht Racing Association. A. W. Finley of Boston, owner of the Dorchen, has written to President Goodwin of the boat association, declining the Rhode Island man's proposition to race in neutral waters of Buzzard's Bay this month for the championship of the Atlantic coast. Mr. Finley in his letter doubts whether the Dorchen will be back from Cleveland in time for such a race.

Nearly everybody in Boston reads the AMERICAN.

LIGHT ELEVEN AT HOLY CROSS

WORCESTER, Sept. 24—Holy Cross, with a small but the most aggressive squad, plays Norwich University at Pitton Field to-morrow. Timothy F. Larkin is again at the helm as coach at Holy Cross, and the strides made by him with football at Holy Cross give the Purple supporters sufficient confidence to anticipate high success for the Purple this season.

Coach Larkin has perhaps the smallest squad of any college which tackles as weighty a schedule as that which faces the Holy Cross team.

Captain Sweeney and "Hiker" Joy of Boston, are two of the old reliables from of Taunton played with Exeter last year. Haggerty of Newburyport, who was at Penn Cadeuay last year; Crafts of the championship East Side High School team of Rochester, N. Y., last year, and Dwyer of Holyoke High are the new players who are expected to give the Purple's eleven the necessary strength to win victories.

TO BOX AT MANCHESTER

The opening of the Queen City A. C. in Manchester, N. H., will take place October 1. Young Donohue of Boston is a great card in that city by reason of his victory over Harry Scroggy last year, and the directors in looking around for a man to meet him decided on Kid Sullivan as his opponent.

FAST HORSES ARE ENTERED

Undoubtedly the greatest card of New England matinee horses ever gotten together for a matinee event has been prepared for the fourth inter-club meeting of the season which is to take place at Combination Park to-morrow afternoon between the Dorchester, Fellsway, Lynn and Quannapowitt Driving Clubs.

The racing is for the championship of Greater Boston and the Dorchester Club enters the final match of the season with a lead of nineteen points. The principal prize is a solid silver cup which is to be awarded to the club winning the greatest number of points in the four matinees.

With the knowledge that the Dorchesters had a clear lead the other clubs have been busy since the last meeting on August 21, and as a result they have brought to town the very best horses owned by their members. The Dorchester organization has not been asleep, and as a result several of its members have brought home from the race tracks the fastest ones in the clubs.

This rivalry has resulted in the matching committees of the several organizations getting together a great lot of matinee starters and pacers.

The three great attractions should be the Class I. pace, with such well known horses as My Star (2:03¼) and Reliance (2:11¼) entered; Class K trot, with Chri S., the greatest speedway trotter, Genesis, Billy J. and Oleander for contestants, and the Class L pace, with Gloria, Lady Laurin, Louise E. and May H. fighting it out.

THE DIXIE KID HOPES TO LAND

There seems but little question that the people of the city will witness a wonderful athlete in action when Sam Langford faces the Dixie Kid at the Armory Club next Tuesday night.

Jim Buckley, who is looking after Dixie Kid, says that the latter will be on the job from the start. "It wont sound like a 'cow' game if I said he had a chance with Langford," writes Buckley, "but I say he has a chance with anyone he can hit. Your members can rest assured that Mistah Langford is not going to a cakewalk, but will know he has been trotting pretty fast when this bout is over."

The excellence of the three six-round preliminaries has also stimulated interest in the entertainment, and everyone looks forward to a good attendance of members and a very satisfactory show.

BOSTON COACH AT FRIENDS' SCHOOL

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 24—Dr. Henry L. Chadwick, a former Boston man and prominent there in gymnastics work, has been appointed physical director of the Friends' Central school of this city, having one of the finest gymnasiums in this city. The gymnasium has just been erected, and will be equipped under Dr. Chadwick's supervision. Dan Luby of the University of Pennsylvania has been elected coach of the football team.

ANOTHER PAPKE KETCHEL BOUT

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 24—There is a likelihood of Billy Papke and Stanley Ketchel being rematched by Coffroth for a forty-five-round go on Thanksgiving Day. No matter how much Ketchel may be battered about by Johnson he will still retain the middleweight crown, and that will be something worth striving for.

Further, if Johnson beats Ketchel the fans will give Papke more of a chance against the Michigan scrapper. Papke is billed to fight Hugo Kelly in New Orleans on October 31.

WORCESTER ACADEMY FOOTBALL DATES

WORCESTER, Sept. 24—Worcester Academy football candidates were divided between two training tables yesterday, the first string men including Captain Kelley, Bartlett, Mellean, Dutton, Noone, Farnum, Sinclair, Holden, Wilson, Owens, Shiley and Manager O'Connor. The second string includes Messenger, Newell, Hayes, Magee, Ashley, Jordan, Cunningham, Cheney, McDuffie and O'Neil.

The following schedule has been arranged:

Sept. 28—Academy vs. Worcester Tech.
Oct. 5—Academy at Andover.
Oct. 9—Andover second at Worcester.
Oct. 16—Boston Technical at Worcester.
Oct. 23—Clushing at Auburndale.
Oct. 30—Durham freshmen at Worcester.
Nov. 6—Harvard freshmen at Worcester.
Nov. 13—Williston at Worcester.

How a Man Makes Love

The Way of a Man With a Maid Is Still the Riddle of the Ages

By Nell Brinkley

The indifferent suitor, the impetuous sweetheart and the soulful, sighing swain.

THE wise Solomon, who should have been about as well posted as any man and philosopher rock isn't near as puzzling as the way of a trolley on the subject, wrote him down in his Proverbs:

"There be three things which are too wonderful for me, yea, four which I know not:

"The way of an eagle in the air, the way of a serpent upon a rock; the way of a ship in the midst of the sea; and the way of a man with a maid."

So after all these years they have found the way of the eagle in the air (Orville and Wilbur Wright man appears to be bored dreadfully. He lolls back, but Cupid is on his side because he is big and handsome, and very cunning withal; for when all of the Bettinas begin to strive to get ahead of each other and each wants to add him to her conquests, he sizes up each, takes his pick and says:

"Come over, goes a-courting, but she was mistaken in this case.

Little One. You are the one I want."

Advice to the Lovelorn

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX.

TRIFLING LOVE.

DEAR MISS FAIRFAX:

I am a young girl, seventeen years of age, and am in love with a young man two years my senior. He has not yet told me of his love for me, but I am sure he loves me dearly.

About two weeks ago we quarrelled over a trifle, which amounted to nothing, but I think it was all his fault. Since then we have not spoken or looked at each other.

Now, what I would like to know is, should I speak to him first or wait till he speaks to me?

ANXIOUS.

YOUR love could not have been very deep or you would not quarrel over a trifle and continue to be bad friends.

Why not be the first one to make overtures? Write him a note saying that you are sorry for your share of the quarrel.

RUNNING A RISK

DEAR MISS FAIRFAX:

I am a young girl, twenty-two years of age, and engaged to a young man three years my senior. I am considered to have very good business ability and have a responsible position at present, but my fiance wants to get married and then start in business with my assistance. He does not feel as though he has the capability of managing a men's furnishing store alone, but with my help he is positive he will make a success.

I have a few dollars saved and have been thinking seriously of sharing it with him, provided we get married under present conditions.

What would you advise me to do under the circumstances? M. A. D.

I WOULD advise you to think it over very carefully before you put your savings into any uncertain enterprise. It is a good thing for even a married woman to have a little money of her own in case of adversity. It would look better if the young man saved some of his own money and started in business without taking mine and I don't, so I would advise you against it. However, you know the circumstances in whom you have absolute confidence and who knows the young man in question.

Love Cure for Women—By Dorothy Dix

BY what process is a woman cured of the love fever?

Her recovery is slower than that of a man, for a woman has a fatal susceptibility for the tender passion, and it takes pretty heroic treatment to cure her of her affection for a man on whom she has once set her heart.

But it can be done. Oh, yes, it can be done, although a great many husbands do not think so, and take liberties with the belief that their wives are the victims of chronic affection for them that will last as long as their women's lives do. In this way they are mistaken, and it would surprise many a man to know how completely his wife has gotten over her youthful illusion that he was a hero of romance and the idol of her soul.

Of course, there are many ways of curing a woman of love for her husband, but for a prescription that is guaranteed to be a specific that never fails, I should recommend the following procedure:

Neglect Your Person

(a.) As soon as you are married begin to be careless of your personal appearance. Cut out the barber, and pass up the chiropodist and presser, and economize on the laundry. You can have no idea how personally disgusting and repulsive a slovenly man with a three days' beard on his face is to a refined and dainty woman.

If to this you will add a tobacco and beer perfumed breath you can effectually and permanently cure her of any inclination to kiss you in a single week. If a slatternly woman in dirty slippers and curl papers is unattractive to a man, consider what an untidy man must be to a woman who puts so much more stress on appearance than a man does.

(b.) Make your wife feel that you regard her as a burden. Talk all the time about how much it costs to support a wife, and bemoan the fact that you can't afford the things that men can who don't have to spend their money on milliners' bills. Refer often to the superior wisdom of bachelors who have had sense enough to keep their necks out of the halter.

The beautiful injustice of this, considering that you importuned your wife night and day to marry you, until she did so, and that she could have married a man who would have given her diamonds and automobiles if she hadn't been foolish enough to fall in love with you, will not like a cold douche upon her affection for you, and be exceedingly effective in diminishing its warmth.

Then There Are Bills

(c.) Be sparing to her about money. On no account make her an allowance. Compel her to come to you like a beggar for every cent she gets. Always raise a row over the housekeeping bills, and act as if you thought that she had eaten up every article of food herself, and monopolized the steam heat and electric light.

Of course, when she married you she thought that it would be a pleasure for you to provide for her, and that a wife was her husband's partner, and that it she did her share of making him a comfortable home she would be entitled to a half interest in his pocketbook.

This is one of the hallucinations of Throws the broken fragments of her romance into the garbage can.

the delirium of love, but you can cure her of it by making her, when she timidly prefers a request for market money: "What DID you do with that quarter I gave you last Monday? Great Scott, woman, do you think I am made of money?"

(d.) On no account ever show your wife any appreciation for anything she does, or pay her any compliments about how she looks, or give any sign that you still feel any affection for her. This would excite her and it likely as not to raise the temperature of her affection, for women are poor, silly creatures, without much self control, and I have known cases where a patient, who was almost cured of her love for her husband, had a violent relapse because he brought her home a bunch of flowers.

It is necessary to be very careful in this regard, for most women would drop dead with surprise if their husbands should really manifest as much interest in them as they do in the stock market or a new automobile.

The Grunt Is Effective

(e.) Cultivate the "M-m-m-m-m" habit. You haven't any idea how exhilarating and cooling it is to the affection of a woman who is simply seething with misplaced devotion to her husband. It makes him just about as lovable and caressable as a cake of ice.

Maybe the silly little goose has been thinking all day of a lot of little innocent gossip and plans that she will tell you, but she won't if you meet her first conversational advance with a grunt. She will bottle them all up in her own soul—unless she happens to meet up with some other man who likes to listen to her babble.

(f.) Unload all your temper and irritability at home. Never speak unless you say something disagreeable. Make fun of your wife's ideas and opinions. Tell witty stories at her expense when you have company. Understudy that interesting animal, the donkey, and kick about everything that transpires under your roof.

You haven't any conception of how quickly you can shatter a woman's illusions about you, and knock holes all through her dream of what matrimony was to be by this course, and when a woman rises up and sweeps up the broken fragments of her romance and throws them into the garbage can with the other broken and discarded rubbish, your work is nearly complete. You have about eradicated the last symptom of love from her system.

(g.) Neglect her. If you can't cure her of her love for you in any other way, starve it out. Never show any tenderness. Never give her a kiss except the perfunctory, duty, husband kiss. Never take her anywhere unless she badgers you into it. Forget her birthday and all sentimental anniversaries.

Make it plain that you never consider her happiness or pleasure, and that you regard her as nothing but an unpaid housekeeper and the mother of your children. Spend your evenings away from home.

At first she will weep and protest against this treatment, for it is not to be denied that it is exceedingly painful to a tender and loving woman, but she will get used to it after awhile, and perhaps even come to like it, for there is no cure so thorough and complete as that of a woman who is once cured of love for her husband.

Don't forget to try neglect as a love cure for your wife. It works when everything else fails, as thousands of husbands can testify.

Oh, you can cure a woman of love, but it is like a surgical operation. It leaves an ineffaceable scar that she carries with her into the grave.

Dainty Cream That Is a Wonderful Treatment for This Trouble.

If you want to remove your freckles, use a remedy that is made specially for that purpose. Freckles are really a special disease of the skin and can be removed only by a treatment that is especially designed to remove them.

Thine Freckle Cream is the only one that never fails to remove freckles. It is a delightful, snowy-white lotion that is used by society women in New York as well as in this city and without a single failure reported.

We have sold it to our best trade and with unfailing success as they are gladly recommending it to their friends. Call at our store, inside the entrance-door of Jordan Marsh Co., or Filene's goods, Boston Co., and see how quickly it removes those freckles. Full treatment $1.00. Sufficient quantity for minor cases of Summer freckles 50c.

Death's Final Conquest

By JAMES SHIRLEY.

THE glories of our birth and state
Are shadows, not substantial things:
There is no armor against fate;
Death lays his icy hands on kings:
Sceptre and crown
Must tumble down,
And in the dust be equal made
With the poor, crooked scythe and spade.

Some men with swords may reap the field,
And plant fresh laurel where they kill;
But their strong nerves at last must yield,
They tame but one another still.
Early or late
They stoop to fate,
And must give up their murmuring breath,
When they, pale captives, creep to death.

The garlands wither on your brow,
Then boast no more your mighty deeds;
Upon death's purple altar now
See where the victor victim bleeds;
All heads must come
To the cold tomb:
Only the actions of the just
Smell sweet and blossom in the dust.

If you placed several skeins of yarns of different makes side by side you would probably be able to pick out Fleisher's.

But if these same skeins were made up into garments, the superiority of the FLEISHER YARNS would be so evident that there could not be any doubt about it. All the softness and elasticity of the original thread would be imparted to the garment, because the FLEISHER YARNS do not crush on the needles. And the longer you would wear these garments the greater the difference would grow. Try the FLEISHER YARNS for your next garment.

THE LATEST STYLES IN KNITTING AND CROCHETING

A Pretty and Knitty Made Scarf

My lady of the court of Louis XVI must have a scarf—many scarfs—to throw about her dainty shoulders. And now that we are reviving the styles of the gay Louis periods, the scarf has become an indispensable article of the wardrobe. Here is one a bit out of the ordinary. It has an all-over pattern of alternate raised and sunken blocks that adds a touch of distinction

This scarf is made of fourteen skeins of Fleisher's Shetland Floss—one of the softest and daintiest yarns imaginable. It is so made that the scarf will not become stretched or stringy, but will hang in the long graceful folds that are the real charm of any scarf.

Full directions for making this and many other new and staple articles may be found in Fleisher's Knitting and Crocheting Manual, an invaluable handbook for beginner and expert. Contains a complete course of instruction in the various stitches and is the only authoritative guide to fashion in articles made of yarn.

THE PERFUME OF THE LADY IN BLACK.

By GASTON LEROUX.

Copyright, 1909, by Brentano's.

ROULETABILLE declared that there would be no chance for an assassin meditating the commission of a murder with an old piece of stone as an instrument. And still less could one believe that Rernier, if he had resolved upon suicide, would not have found another means toward his end than the one which had been used.

But if, on the contrary that stone, which might have attracted his attention by its strange form, had been picked up by Pere Bernier, and if he had happened to slip and fall while holding it in his hand, everything would be explained and very simply. Pere Bernier, undoubtedly, must have thus unfortunately fallen upon this triangular flint which had pierced his heart.

After Roulet abille had stated this hypothesis, the physician was recalled, the wound examined once more and confronted with the fatal object from which the scientific conclusion was reached that the wound was made by the object. From this to the theory of accident, as stated by Roulet abille, there was only a step. The judges spent six hours in clearing up the matter—six hours during which they questioned us without weariness but without result.

As to Mme. Edith and your humble servant, after some futile and useless questions, asked while the doctors were at the bedside of Old Bob, we were allowed to leave the room and we went to sit in the little parlor just outside the bedroom and were there when the magistrates were already to depart. The door of this parlor which opened upon the corridor of the Square Tower had not been closed. We could hear the sobs and groans of Mere Bernier, who was watching beside the body of her husband which had been carried into the lodge. Between this body and the wounded man, the injury to one as inexplicable as the death of the other, the situation of both Mrs. Rance and myself had become extremely painful, in spite of Roulet abille's efforts, and all the terms which we had experienced before grew pale and simple before the thought of what might be yet to come. Edith suddenly seized me by the hand and cried out:

"Do not leave me! I beg of you, don't leave me! I have only you left. I do not know where Prince Galitch is—I do not know anything about my husband. That is what makes this so horrible. Arthur sent me a message, saying that he was going in search of Tullio. He does not know even yet that Bernier has been murdered. Has he found the hangman of the seat? It is from this man—from Tullio—whom I expect the truth! And not a word has come! It is horrible!"

"You ought to be grateful to Roulet abille," I ventured to remind her, "for his intervention and his silence relative to the ridiculous knife known as the 'human race.' If the officers had learned that this same dagger belonged to your uncle, Bob, what could have hindered them from placing him under arrest? Or if they knew that Forrier in dying had accused Larsan of his murder, the story of the accident would have found very little credence."

I placed an emphasis upon these last words.

"Oh!" she cried, bitterly, "Your friend has as many good reasons to keep silence as I have! And I dread only one thing," M. Sinclair—I dread only one thing!"

"And what is that?"

She arose, her eyes shining with fever.

"I fear lest he has saved my uncle from the authorities only to ruin him more completely."

I managed to quiet her a little and to make her cast aside such an impossible supposition, and, at length she said:

"At all events, it is necessary to be ready for anything, and I know how to defend him as far as I am able."

And she showed me a tiny revolver which was hidden in her gown.

"Ah!" she cried again. "Why is Prince Galitch not here?"

"Again?" I exclaimed, angrily.

"Is it actual truth that you are ready to defend me?" she demanded, turning her beautiful eyes full upon my own.

"I am ready."

"Against the whole world?"

I hesitated. She repeated the words again:

"Against the whole world?"

"Yes."

"Against your friend even?"

"If it should be necessary," I answered with a shock, pacing my hand across my forehead.

"Very well; I believe you!" she answered. "In that case, I will leave you but for a few minutes. You will guard this door for me!"

And she pointed to the door behind which Old Bob was resting. Then she ran out of the room. Where was she going? She confessed to me later. She was going to look for the Prince Galitch! Oh, woman, woman!

She had scarcely disappeared under the arch when Roulet abille and M. Darzac entered the room. They had heard all that had passed. Roulet abille advanced to my side and told me quietly that he was aware that I had helped him.

"You are using a large word, Roulet abille!" I exclaimed. "You know that I am not in the habit of betraying anyone's confidence. Edith is much to be pitied and you do not pity her enough, my friend."

"Oh, well! you pity her too much!"

I blushed to the roots of my hair. I started to make some reply but Roulet abille cut short my words with a dry gesture.

"I ask you only one thing—only one, you understand. It is that, no matter what may happen—no matter what may happen—you shall not address one word to either M. Darzac or to myself."

At a single glance passed after that when I saw Mme. Edith rush into the room and purpose to use me though I were her only refuge.

Then I saw M. Darzac appear—

Then Roulet abille, and leaning on his arm was the Lady in Black.

EXPENSIVE SILENCE.

LITTLE four-year-old Alice was lying on the floor wishing and crying steadily one afternoon, until her father's patience exhausted, he called out to her: Oh, stop, Alice, and I'll give you a penny."

Alice stopped only long enough to answer: "I can't stop for less than a nickel! Boohoo! Boohoo!"

Oh, for a Stew! a Good Irish Stew! O'Reilly Wants Just a Hint from You!

Ten dollars for an Irish Stew? Whew! That's a high price to pay for an Irish Stew, you may say.

Well, it is—that's a fact, but this Irish Stew isn't to be served in a dish, it's got to be served as a recipe. Lawrence O'Reilly is hungry for a real good Irish stew and he offers to pay $5 for the best recipe sent to him, in care of the BOSTON AMERICAN.

The BOSTON AMERICAN just to help Mr. O'Reilly get the very best recipe for an Irish stew that any New England housewife can get up, will add $5 for the second best recipe.

Don't be afraid to get into the contest. Competent judges of good cooking and good eating are to decide.

Here's the letter Mr. O'Reilly has written and which has made the Irish Stew a more momentous question in New England today than whether Cook or Peary discovered the North Pole.

Editor AMERICAN:

Help me, quick! What is an Irish stew? I've been living in Boston a few months and one of my favorite dishes is Irish stew. I want to be able to get a real Irish stew in this town. Why?

In some restaurants the Irish stew is made up of left-over roast beef and potatoes, with a watery gravy. That is awful.

In other places Irish stew is composed of boiled pieces of lamb, onions and potatoes, and in other places a few onions are added and often some green peppers.

But none of these are the Irish stews my mother made, when I was a lad in Donegal.

Will some of the AMERICAN readers or the chefs of our hotels, please help me by sending me a recipe for the real article? An Irish stew properly made is one of the best dishes in the world.

I will pay $5 for the best recipe.

LAWRENCE O'REILLY.

Send in your recipes. Send them to Lawrence O'Reilly, THE BOSTON AMERICAN, Boston, Mass.

Here are some which have just come in:

LIFE SAVER FOR LAWRENCE.

Editor AMERICAN:

Don't cry so, Lawrence O'Reilly. There is always hope and so I hope this will cheer you a bit.

Take a pound of lamb and 1 pound of beef, cook until tender, then about 4 good sized onions boiled, 2 carrots cut in slice and half a turnip cut similarly; 4 good potatoes cut for a stew. Let it cook with the meat for twenty minutes. Take one quarter pound butter, 1 cup flour, cook over coal but the until smooth; then add liquor from stew to butter and flour; after thoroughly cooking pour the mixture into the kettle with meat and vegetables and it is ready. Serve with chopped green parsley. Howls that Mr. Right O'Reilly.

CORNBEEF IN A REAL STEW.

Editor AMERICAN:

This is my recipe for a real Irish stew: Take the nice piece of corned beef, cut up in small pieces, two good sized onions, boil beef 1 hour and add some small turnips, a spoonful of flour. SARAH E. HAYTES,
No. 8 Edgewood park, Roxbury.

THAT "MACEDONIAN" CRY.

Editor AMERICAN:

Heating your Macedonian ears for Help? I thought I might be of some assistance to the Irish stew problem. Here's my recipe: About 4 pounds of the bottom of the round of beef cut in small pieces, six onions, three carrots, eight potatoes cut in halves, one cabbage cut in eight, salt and pepper to taste.

MABEL FLOOD,
No. 76 Thorn place, Roxbury.

GO SLOW ON THE SALT.

Editor AMERICAN:

Take two or three pounds of shin meat and boil, then remove the meat and boil until tender; put in three good sized onions, three cubic cubes, three about six potatoes sliced thick. Let all boil until you can stick a tooth pick in the potatoes and onions, then add little thickening, one dessert spoonful of flour and a little water, mixed together. Add that last, don't salt meat till most done as it makes it tough.

MRS. WILLIAM E. DORRINS,
No. 1176 congress street, Lowell.

CAN YOU BEAT THIS STEW?

Editor AMERICAN:

Here's an Irish stew every Wednesday and you can beat it:

Remove the fat part of a loin of mutton and then cut into chops. Pare, wash and slice one big potatoes, four onions and two carrots; season with pepper and salt; cover with water in a stew pan and stew gently till the meat is tender and the potatoes are dissolved in the gravy. It may be made with beef steaks, or mutton and beef mixed.

What's Required of You

By Kennett Harris

I've heard those words so often you complain,
My dear, that you're rapid and vain.
It seems enough what I said
Profess more mind.
Delights in the finite name
That his charm with all the more force when learn.
I confined you in extra proportion of vanity.
I've heard those who know you declare
Your beauty is only a snare.
You're vain, I admit, but you're fair,
And says it humored.
That may be, but you should see you're
Such charms do not sound to a lover storm begin.
Just as long as the lady will smile on him
charmingly.
I've heard that you're lazy, my dear
You have household duties I hear.
You find such conduct
You're absurd, I protest!
Why you'll be ill right away fear
In the routine of some years, be no limit.
Ill your friends
But just now, to be pretty is all that's required of you.

SOCIETY

BARN PARTY FOR 'LABRADOR' AT HINGHAM

By ELIZABETH ELLIOTT.

The social calendar is rapidly filling with the dates of weddings, receptions, teas and the numerous functions which occupy the attention of the average society woman, and invitations to the various smart affairs are literally showering upon the more popular ones.

Although the season is just opening there seems to be a sufficient number of fashionable affairs to keep the social ball rolling at full speed.

An affair which will attract South Shore society folk this week will be the entertainment and dance given by the Edward Everett Hale Land-a-Boat Club in Mrs. Charles Hilliker's cottage in Hingham. The proceeds go to the Dr. Grenfell's Labrador Mission and the club is a society among patronesses for the affair are Mrs. John D. Long, Mrs. Herbert Whitton, Mrs. John W. Ela, Mrs. Arthur Wilson and Mrs. George F. Cabot, Miss Peter B. Brigham, Miss Emma Endicott and Miss Blake.

The wedding of Dr. Grenfell and Miss Anna Mackinnon will take place in the way, in the latter's home in Newport. The engagement has been announced for some time and of interest. They met on ship-board while coming from England to America, and the engagement announced soon after. Miss Mackinnon took his degree from Harvard and Williams.

So many delightful entertainments are being planned for Mr. and Mrs. William Endicott's wedding, Kerstin Fabyan, who was married in Chicago early in the month, and who will come to Boston shortly, that the many bride-groom dinner her welcome here. The home of Miss Endicott on Chestnut street, Mr. and Mrs. Endicott will occupy the Hamilton Spaulding residence, Beacon street. Mr. Spaulding's mother, Mrs. Henry Parsons Kidg, already has invitations out for a dinner she will give in their honor.

Mr. and Mrs. Richard C. Dixey entertained at a handsomely appointed evening for members of the summer set. The luncheon was in honor of their daughter, Miss Rosamond Dixey, who has recently returned from a visit to New York. The guests included Miss Elizabeth Bowditch, Miss Frances Balcom, Malcolm Hennessy and Sheldon Cook.

Secretary and Mrs. Charles Von L. Meyer leaves to go to Quebec to Lenox for a short visit with Mr. Meyer's sister and her husband, the Rev. Frederick Palmer. Mr. and Mrs. Fredericton have been at Cape Cod during the summer and have also been to Lenox this evening. They met the Secretary and Mrs. Meyer in Quebec and will join them in their travels. The Meyers are to remain over the week-end in Boston. Mr. Von Meyer is a member of the Boston-Fulton celebration committee and George Von L. Meyer is well acquainted with the New York.

Mrs. Lyman Rutherford has gone to Tyringham to visit the Misses Gilder at their Pleasant Farm. Miss Julia Chanin, daughter of Mrs. Isaac Chanin, of the Hotel Chanin, has been spending the Summer with Miss Gilder at Tyringham and will go to England in autumn.

ECZEMA DEFIED SIX HOSPITALS

Doctors of Two Continents Could Make No Impression on Torturing Skin Disease — All Treatments Failed for Nineteen Years.

THEN CUTICURA CURED SWIFTLY AND EASILY

"I contracted my disease at school in London, England when I was four-teen years old. I suffered for thirty-three. My father put me under the care of our family physician who diagnosed my disease as itch. But after several months' treatment without receiving any relief, I was advised to go to a hospital. I attended the —— Hospital, London. Then and on two other occasions, I was under getting any benefit, they treated me for eczema. My next attempt was trying different continents from doctors and druggists. Then I tried patent medicines, including ——.

I passed examinations for government situations but was finally rejected at the medical examinations. After three attempts to enlist in the British Army I succeeded at last but was discharged on account of my eczema. The disease was confined to face, arms and legs, my face being actually raw at times. I came to America thirteen years ago, but my face became worse, if possible. When in New York City I was advised to go to —— Hospital, whence I was sent to the —— Hospital in Brooklyn. I was put under the care of Professor ——, but this also added to the number of unsuccessful attempts. I returned home to England and tried the —— Hospital, Liverpool, the —— Hospital, London, also the world-famed London —— Hospital, but without getting cured. I came back to America five years ago. I had overlooked the Cuticura Remedies some of times, but three months ago I decided to give Cuticura a trial and I can safely say I am cured of one of the most torturing skin diseases a man ever had. Richard Curley, New Canaan, Conn., Jan. 10, '09."

"I am familiar with Mr. Curley's case and his cure and believe his statement to be true. John F. Bradley, New Canaan, Conn."

JOHNNY JONES IS HOW OLD? STUDY IT OUT

"How Old Is Little Johnny Jones?"

That's a good bit like asking "Why does a hen cross the road?" or "Which would you rather do or go a-doing?"

But here's a problem which you can puzzle over and finally answer if you've got the patience.

When teacher asked little Johnny Jones his age, he replied:

"When I was born my sister was one-quarter the age of mother. Sister is now one-third as old as father and in four years I shall be one-quarter as old as father."

Now, how old IS little Johnny Jones? The BOSTON AMERICAN is too busy to work this problem out. Won't you help it by solving the problem and sending your answer to Johnny Jones Contest, AMERICAN, Boston, Mass.

HE THINKS HE'S RIGHT.

Editor Johnny Jones Contest:

Sir—In regard to the Johnny Jones contest, I wish to say, I think Johnny Jones is now fourteen years old.

FRANK MITCHELL.

Bingham.

SUCH YOUTHFUL PARENTS.

Editor Johnny Jones contest:

Sir—I have solved the problem of Johnny Jones's age. When Johnny was born sister was two years old. Mother was eight years old. If sister is one-third as old as father, father's age is six years old. And Johnny is one-quarter of mother's age. Then Johnny must be two years old.

WILLIAM McDONOUGH.

Manchester, N. H.

JOHNY'S PRETTY YOUNG.

Editor Johny Jones contest:

Sir—In reading the BOSTON AMERICAN I observed the Johnny Jones contest.

I make it that Johnny is one year and three months old. JOSEPH MICHAEL.

5 Perry's court, Lowell.

FROM A FRIEND OF MUTT'S.

Editor Johnny Jones contest:

Sir—Oh, cats. Even Mutt could figure out Johnny Jones' age, and he wouldn't have to call in Little Jeff to help. I've followed Mutt for a month and I'm on for in the hole. I don't dare to go home to wifey, but I'll bet you five get that Johnny Jones thing right and I'll bet you seven to one that Johnny is not over.

Charlestown. ED. QUIGLEY.

(Mutt in his off days could do better than that.)

CAUSES TROUBLE AT HOME.

Editor Johnny Jones contest:

Sir—Will you please for the peace of my otherwise cheerful and happy home, discontinue this Johnny Jones contest. I've got a little boy named Phillip, and after his father—and he is trying to name out Johnny's age. His mother has been helping him, and as they haven't either of them got the answer yet they are blaming it on me and I'm rapidly losing caste in the family circle. You can't stop the problem, please send me the answer so I can spring it on the family. Please withheld my name from publication.

W. A. A.

(Tell Willie to ask his teacher. That will shift the storm center.)

BAD FOR DORCHESTER HIGH.

Editor Johnny Jones contest:

Sir—Anybody who has ever gone to school at the Dorchester High can solve that simple problem which you are publishing in the BOSTON AMERICAN. Johnny Jones is 2 years and 8 months and 4 days old. If there is any prize offered I'll send it along to you. JOHN McCARTHY.

Blue Hill avenue.

(There is no prize, and Johnnie, you wouldn't get it if there was.)

TODAY'S STOCK MARKETS; FINANCIAL NEWS

NORTH BUTTE AGAIN LEADS

STATE STREET, Sept. 24.—North Butte was again the market feature, but selling was uppermost this forenoon. It ran off from 62⅞ to 60½, which was largely the result of profit-taking. The market was generally firm outside of this specialty but woefully dull. The selling of North Butte was due to labor troubles at the Butte camp.

An $2 assessment called by the Atlantic Mining Company was paid in the market to-day for the stock, but there were few sales. Arcadian Consolidated sold at 4 to 4⅝ and were both strong stocks.

The other mining stocks, such as Amalgamated Steel and Steel common, were in demand at the opening, although the first named fell to 87⅜ here and Steel eased from 39 to 38⅞, but soon advanced to 156.

American Telephone sold both above and below 144 and Hargisson was the principal buyer. Curb trading was light and confined to specialties. Davis-Daly was a trifle firmer and First National was steady. There was more or less business in National Exploration.

STATE ST. NEWS FOR INVESTORS

To the student of politics Taft's talks have been really devoid of novelty; they have been expected. But a part of "the street" chooses not to see it that way, and this has its effect upon the commission house following. But many brokers share one of woman's most cherished prerogatives—they may change their mind and often and radically. So a few strong sessions may make the reverse.

It is quite certain that the money market will not worry Boston for the present, at least. Further evidence of this was had when several institutions whose specialties is the country bank, reported a continued demand for securities from their interior correspondents, which is in striking contrast to the dullness in loans in large cities.

The city dealers expected to sell some of the bonds the country bankers had bought earlier in the year, the proceeds to be used for corresponding purposes, instead of selling the out-of-town banker is buying bonds, which ought to be some comfort to people who fear for the rectitude of the planter and his banker. The sensational rise in the Canadian Pacific may be looked on as additional bear argument on stocks, but it would seem that the government report had told the full story last week.

A director of the Fitchburg Trust said that the earnings for the quarter just ended would leave at least $15,000,000 available for dividends on the common stock. That means earnings of 2 per cent., and at least 1 per cent. will be declared for the quarter.

It is possible that the stock may be put on a 5 per cent. basis at once, for that is promised by January at the latest. The Trust now has 56 per cent. of its lines in operation and is doing a larger business than ever before in its history in all departments, because its capacity is so much greater than it was during the last boom.

In order to facilitate the accumulation of Steel some open selling was indulged in by brokers identified with the management. Many thousand shares of Steel stock, borrowed a week ago, were returned with a great show of publicity.

Consolidated Gas is evidently being purchased by insiders, who believe that the time is drawing near when the company can dispose of most of its real estate holdings on Manhattan Island. It is almost ready to do all of its business in the new plant on Long Island City. The company finds also that with 80-cent gas a legal and practical certainty, the public is going use more freely, so that the income is greater than the company ever had before. The growth of Long City is also adding tremendously to the income of the company, and the present celebration has produced a boom in the electrical department.

President Rare of the Reading is quoted as saying that he will not permit any segregation or increase of dividend as long as H. C. Frick is so prominent in the stock of the company. Mr. Frick has a habit of not being eliminated, and that is a terrible thing for Mr. Baer to say. Some of the important people in Reading are planning a new scheme of segregation. They think it would be wise to let Jersey Central buy all the Reading Railroad tracks and subsidiary property. The Reading company having from the Jersey Central all the coal or industrial enterprises and controls. Thus Jersey Central would be the railroad and Reading Company merely an industrial concern. One reason for not increasing the dividend on Jersey Central was that preference had begun an appraisal of the property and did not want any of the assets disturbed until it is finished. There is no absolute certainty that the plan will go through, but it is very favorably considered.

The SUNDAY AMERICAN is the Seventh Day Wonder of New England.

HEAVY SALES OF READING

NEW YORK, Sept. 24.—Heavy selling of Reading disturbed traders in Wall Street to-day, after a strong opening of the general market. The stock came out in large blocks above 166, at no time thus that day was rising. Steel was higher than at the close yesterday, and Pennsylvania and Sugar were showing great strength. Traders were inquiring as to what position to take over the holidays, but the selling of Reading made many decide that they ought to get out. There has been extensive accumulation of the Reading, Consolidated Gas, Brooklyn Rapid Transit and Steel. The street refuses to believe that Steel has actually been accumulated by the insiders. Nevertheless, it is a fact. The only genuine optimism in regard to Steel is found among the directors and bankers associated with the companies. These people have $\frac{3}{4}$ reason to expect profits to their corporate, but refuse to cash in because they believe Steel will go as high next year as to make the present figures look like a panic. As a result of the selling of Reading, stocks lost their early advance quickly, and left at the middle of the first hour the market was very irregular.

On the curb Chicago Subway continued strongly on small transactions. Sanded Lyon on Haverhill street burn down with a loss of $1,200. The second hydrant was half a mile away, and Lake Quannapowitt was so low that the engine could not pump water from it.

HILL IS NOW SURE OF THE NOMINATION

The Republican nominee for District Attorney of Suffolk County will be chosen in convention at Wesleyan Hall next Tuesday at 2 p. m. Indications point to a unanimous choice of Arthur Hill on the first ballot. The call for the convention was issued to-day by John Marno of Ward 2, East Boston, chairman of the Republican Suffolk County Committee. The delegates were chosen at last Tuesday's State primaries. Plans for the Democratic convention are not made easy.

The Republican Convention for the Fourth Councillor district will be held next Tuesday at 1 p. m. in Wesleyan Hall. Walter S. Griffith of Somerville will be renominated without opposition.

The Second Councillor Republican Convention will be held in Wesleyan Hall, Friday, October 1, at 3 p. m. A. Sherman Cushing of Norwood is supposed for the nomination.

NO WATER HANDY, FIREMEN WITCH

WAKEFIELD, Sept. 24.—Because there was no water available, the Wakefield fire department stood by to-day and watched the destruction of Mrs. Ida M. Johnson of Lynn on Haverhill street burn down with a loss of $1,200. The nearest hydrant was half a mile away, and Lake Quannapowitt was so low that the engine could not pump water from it.

BIG PAINE PROPERTY AT BRIGHTON IS SOLD

An important realty sale announced today was that by which the Sister of the Cenacle, one of the orders recently come to this country from France, have purchased from Saville & Chandler, attorneys, the well known Paine estate, consisting of about ten acres of land, a large mansion house, cottage and stable, situated at the corner of Lake and Kendrick streets, on the southeasterly slope of Nonantum hill, and directly opposite the large property now occupied by St. John's Ecclesiastical Seminary, near Oak Square, Brighton. The purchasers will remove the present buildings and erect modern structures adapted to their own purposes. The present assessed valuation of the property is $24,700, of which $19,600 is on the land. The purchasers were represented by Joseph Jacobs.

In the South End the two-story brick house and 825 square feet of land at No. 4 Brigham street, between Middlesex and Emerald streets, all assessed at $5,000, have been sold by Alice A. Fine to John Beck et al. The land is rated for $1,200.

Charles A. Schaffer has sold to Samuel A. Keller et al., a lot of land on the corner of Kendall and Reading streets, Roxbury, containing 4,772 square feet, taxed for a total of $2,400.

Edwin A. Stevens has sold to Catherine Mulhearn a frame house and 3,500 square feet of land on Mapleton street, Brighton, assessed for $3,000.

Mary Ann Bagley has sold to Joseph Lubetsin a frame dwelling and lot of land at No. 59 Kenwood street, assessed for $5,500, of which $1,500 is on the land.

In the case submitting the frame dwelling and 2,500 square feet of land at No. 29 Kenwood street, between Washington and Seaborn streets, have been sold by Theodore R. Murray et ux. to Joseph P. Dolan et al. The property is rated on a total valuation of $5,500, $1,500 being on the land.

Edward F. Merrick et al. have sold to Cornelius Callahan, title passing through Timothy Callahan, the property at No. 93 Dacre street, corner of Reese street, Dorchester. The entire parcel of land has 6,000 of which $1,500 is on the land.

The same grantors have sold to George O. F. Frederick et al., title passing through Timothy J. Callahan, the frame dwelling and 3,082 square feet of land, all assessed for $3,600, at No. 67 Dacre street, near Bruce street, Dorchester. The land is rated for $900.

A. Dudley Dond has sold to Gertrude A. A'Hearn the frame house and 2,812 square feet of land at No. 14 Bruce street, near Dacre street, Dorchester, taxed for $3,000 for a total valuation of $2,500, $700 being on the land.

Adolphus Bowen has sold to Ida Mead Merrick the frame dwelling and lot of land at 1 Allerton street, comprising a frame dwelling and 3,000 square feet of land, assessed for $2,600, which last named is sold by George W. Warnick to Margaret Ring. The land is rated for $600.

In West Roxbury Hattie E. Gast has sold to Sarah E. Griffin a one-family frame dwelling house and 5,000 square feet of land, at No. 24 St. Rose street, near the Arborway. The property is assessed for a total of $3,500, of which $500 is on the land.

Mary T. Fowler has purchased of Frederick Atwood of Stockton, Cal., a lot of land on Park street, West Roxbury, containing 9,625 square feet, assessed for $1,500. Mr. Fowler has already purchased the contiguous 7,000 square feet of land, a frame dwelling, worth about $3,800, which he is making his residence.

SEEK LABOR'S SCHOOL VIEWS

Boston's School Committee will consult the trade unionists of this city before opening the proposed industrial schools to teach the elementary principles of some of the principal trades.

The first of these consultations between the School Committee and the trade unionists will take place at Faneuil Hall Monday evening, at 6 o'clock. It comes as a result of a special invitation sent the officers of Typographical Union No. 13 of this city by Thornton B. Appleton, secretary of the School Committee. Norman E. McPhail, president of the Typographical Union, stated to-day that the invitation had been accepted, and that his organization had appointed a committee to meet the School Committee and discuss the question. He added:

"We in no sense wish to oppose progress along industrial school lines, but it seems to us that there would be such a danger to our craft in this city in the establishment of a printing school that it should be the subject of careful thought, both on the part of the school board and the trade representative body in the printing industry of this city."

YALE CHEERS FOR M'CLUNG

Hold the fort, McClung is coming.

Barbour signals still.

Hollingsworth in the centre.

Why are we not the odd?

NEW HAVEN, Sept. 24.—Yale men throughout the country recalled this old football song to-day when the news was flashed that Coach Ted McClung was the star college player of the year.

The official announcement said that McClung had tendered his resignation as coach of football, but that he had been requested to remain in office until November 1, when Mr. McClung would succeed him. It was understood that the chief reason for the latter's appointment was the excellent work he had done as trainer of Yale.

Mr. McClung was born in Knoxville, Tenn., March 29, 1879. During his college days he was a star halfback and served two most popular member of his class in his senior year. He was captain of the football team in 1902. With him on the team were such famous players as the Bliss brothers, Vance McCormick, quarterback, and goal kicker, and the mighty Hoffelmayer.

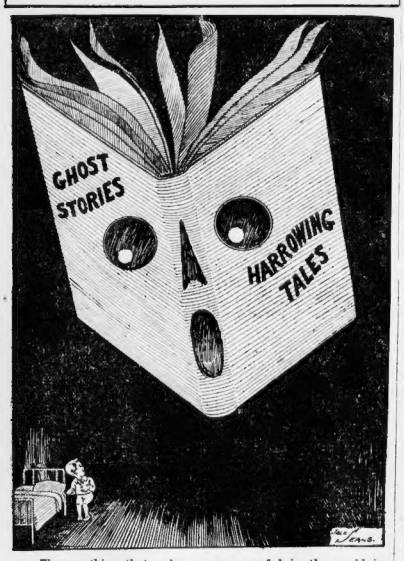
Stop Frightening Children

Study This Picture; Cut It Out, and Show It to Your Friends



The one thing that makes a man successful in the world is COURAGE. For more than a hundred thousand years human beings have been struggling to escape from superstitious fears, horrors and supernatural imaginings that dwarfed their thought and kept them down.

The human race in its babyhood believed in ghosts, devils, spirits—and the child, reproducing the infancy of the race, is naturally superstitious, timid, and afraid of what is unexplained.

If you can't explain things to your children, IF YOU CAN'T GIVE THEM THE TRUTH, at least don't be guilty of the criminal folly of filling their minds with ghost stories and other terrors. Never frighten a child with any threat whatever—least of all with any threat of the supernatural.

Remember how fear paralyzes your own thought, stops your heart's action, takes away all power. Imagine the horrible effect upon a young child living in a constant state of fear—fear increased and augmented by grown-up associates!

This is a picture needed, unfortunately, by thousands of fathers and mothers and nurses of children. Make this one as useful as you can.

The Difference Between Rich Yachtsmen and You Little HOME Owners

The Yachtsmen Sincerely Believe That the Laws Are Made for You, Not for Them

Copyright, 1909, by American-Journal-Examiner

Men who have made fortunes in America sooner or later think that the time has come for them to own a yacht. AND THEY OFTEN HAVE THE YACHT, BUILT IN ENGLAND. In this way, the money made out of the labor of working people in America is turned over to working people in England. That is part of the system that ruined Ireland, a system that let the Irish produce wealth and allowed the landlord to spend that wealth in London. It is the kind of a system that would ruin any country in the long run—even this rich country.

Recent tariff legislation had at least one good thing in it. It decided to tax heavily the yacht owner building his yacht outside of this country.

Each man who owns a foreign built yacht is to pay so much per year per ton for the yacht, or he must pay down a lump sum on the yacht's value.

That is, the law SAYS that he must, but he says that HE WON'T.

Of the dozen of rich Americans owning foreign built yachts, just two thus far have consented to obey the law and pay the tax on their boats.

The others, if you please, denounce the law. They say it is "class legislation." And they propose to go to the courts and see if they cannot find some convenient judge (convenient judges are not scarce in America) who will say that it is unconstitutional to compel the rich owner of a yacht to pay a lump sum on a yacht or annual duty on the boat built in another country.

We believe that this very just tax will be enforced. Owners of big yachts, important individuals, who think they must have aristocratic seclusion, even if it makes them sick at their stomachs to get it, have good friends on the bench—FRIENDS THAT THEY USED TO HIRE AS LAWYERS AT FIRST, AND WHOM THEY PUT ON THE BENCH AFTERWARD. It is quite reasonable in view of some of our judicial decisions that they should hope to find a judge to free them from the yacht tax.

You readers who do not have any yachts, who have everything taxed by the trusts or by the government, YOU CANNOT SAY THAT YOU WON'T PAY WHEN A TAX IS PUT UPON YOU.

If you have bought a lot, or if you have bought a small home, that you are slowly paying for, YOU CANNOT SAY, "I WON'T PAY." WHEN THE TAX COLLECTOR COMES AROUND.

They would call you an Anarchist, a Socialist, a hater of the law, unfit to live in this country, if you did anything but pay your taxes when the taxes are asked for. They would take your house away in a minute, if you refused to pay.

Ask yourselves where the anarchy is in this country. It isn't down among the smaller people. The really dangerous anarchy is at the top—up there is the anarchy that defies laws. The kind of anarchy that will learn a lesson here sooner or later—AND VERY LIKELY SOONER.

IMPORTANT TO READERS AND ADVERTISERS

Expert View of the Boston American's Solid Growth in Circulation and Advertising.

(From the September issue of the Advertisers' Magazine, published at Kansas City, Mo.)

THE situation in Boston is very interesting right now. The five-year-old Boston American is putting on such STRONG CIRCULATION AND ADVERTISING FIGURES, the general opinion is being voiced that Boston can no longer be classed as "a morning paper town" for advertisers, but rather the reverse. Many advertisers are using the American on Sunday, and there is still a growing list of EXCLUSIVE SUNDAY AMERICAN ADVERTISERS.

The American has gone into a strong second position in regard to Sunday business, passing the Post and comparing favorably with the long-entrenched Sunday Globe.

The Herald has suffered most in the battle for business. The afternoon edition has been suspended, and the morning and Sunday editions have but a meager representation among the leading as well as the small advertisers.

Circulation is counting in Boston more than ever before. The evening field is the American's almost exclusively, the Traveler's run of business being less than a third and the Transcript less than a sixth of what the American carries.

I made an important and interesting list of total number of lines of display advertising used during July, 1909, in the Boston newspapers by Boston's large department stores—Houghton & Dutton, Jordan Marsh, Shepard Norwell, Henry Siegel, R. H. White, Filene's, Gilchrist's, Brine's and Butler's, as follows:

	In July, 1909.
American	75,575
Globe	69,795
Post	68,235
Traveler	21,580
Journal	20,815
Herald	16,320
Record	12,465
Transcript	10,960

This really tells the circulation story as well. It is generally conceded that the Boston American has a greater circulation than all the other Boston evening papers combined, and that it is as strong in Boston in the evening field as, for example, a paper of the combined strength of the Evening Journal and Evening World would be in New York city, or the Evening American and Evening News in Chicago.

The Sunday American's circulation throughout New England adds materially to its circulation figures. Worcester, Providence and similarly located and populated towns, or rather cities, are Boston American strongholds.

While the Globe's Sunday circulation is claimed to be greater than the Sunday American's it is being recognized generally among advertisers who count returns and key their propositions most carefully that the American's Sunday circulation must be very close to that of the Globe.

The Post is third in circulation Sundays.

While the preceding department store figures for July are the latest advertising figures for comparing the Hub's newspapers, the following list of advertising gains and losses for display, foreign and local, for six months prior to July, emphasizes the Boston situation:

American's gains in columns	1,115
Globe's gains in columns	95
Post's gains in columns	895
Herald's loss in columns	993¼
The classified gains and losses:
American's gain in columns	213
Globe's gain in columns	755½
Post's loss in columns	381½
Herald's loss in columns	315½

To sum up: The American has the evening "home" field in Boston exclusively; the Post the daily morning field; the Globe the Sunday field, with the American second and coming rapidly.

Popular Songs

I'D LOVE TO BE A SOLDIER'S BRIDE

I.

THE sun was setting in the West one bitter day in June,
A soldier and his sweetheart walked beneath the harvest moon.
He drew her to his yearning arms and told the old, old story.
Said he, "I hear the bugle and I must fight for Old Glory.
Before I go, my darling, will you marry me, I pray?"
His loved one looked him in the lamps, and these harsh words did say:

CHORUS.

I'd love to be a soldier's bride, if everything was cheap,
But soldiers do not earn enough a girl like me to keep.
I've always lived with father, and he dearly loves to buy—
I'd love to be a soldier's bride, but living is too high."

II.

The gallant soldier shuddered at his sweetheart's mean remark,
And with loud shrieks of agony he fled into the dark.
He went and joined his regiment, and later on that Fall
He had his wishbone shattered by a big league cannon ball.
He fell that day without a moan, and ere he passed away
He whispered to a comrade them harsh words she once did say:

CHORUS.

"I'd love to be a soldier's bride," etc.
